FOREIGN COUNTRIES REGARD AMERICA AS SAFETY BOX

BY IRVING PERLMETER

Washington, May 8 (AP)—The United States' role as the world's safety deposit box was emphasized anew today when it was estimated that the Netherlands have at least $200,000,000 of wealth in this country—and perhaps a much larger sum.

All told, foreign governments and citizens have stored more than $1,000,000,000 in the United States for protection from war and other dangers abroad.

Currency Hoarded Abroad

The Dutch government recognized the American role of strongbox keeper by appointing the minister to Washington, Dr. A. Loudon, paymaster for all the far-flung foreign services of the Netherlands government "in case of emergency."

Holland feels assured that if Germany invades her, Dr. Loudon will be aided by the United States in using Dutch money on deposit here as the Dutch government would want it used and not as a conquering army might dictate.

If an invasion occurs and President Roosevelt follows his action in the cases of Denmark and Norway, he will issue an executive order prohibiting the withdrawal of Dutch money from the United States or shipment of wealth to Holland except upon treasury license.

Besides sending wealth here, many foreigners have been secretly hoarding American currency in their native lands. The amount of American paper money filling foreign socks and flower pots is not known, but is estimated by officials in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Nazis Need Assets

American officials, who boast that the dollar is the "soundest currency in the world," have welcomed every of the safety-deposit box idea. When Denmark and Norway were invaded, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau explained that the president's order "freezing" Danish and Norwegian funds was "necessary to protect the integrity of the United States as a depository for international funds."

Privately, aides explained that he meant that the United States would resist Nazi conquerers who might try to force Danes or Norwegians to bring their money home so the Germans could confiscate it.

Germany, which has less gold and international investments than any other major power, was pictured as hungry for any international assets she could obtain to buy war supplies. Few countries will accept German money at its face value, and in recent years Germany has resorted to bartering for lack of acceptable international coin.

PAY RAISES GIVEN

Monroe, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Wage increases for employes in the minimum brackets, totalling $70,000 a year, were announced today by the River Raisin Paper Co. The increases, the company said, were 11 percent for women and eight percent for men.

PLEA IN WAYNE OUSTER FUTILE

Prosecutor McCrea Says Hearing Now Would Be Unfair

Lansing, May 8, (AP)—Duncan C. McCrea, indicted Wayne county prosecutor, presented another futile protest to Governor Dickinson today against ouster proceedings that have been instituted against him.

Dickinson without comment transmitted the plea to Probate Judge John L. Hollander of Kalamazoo, before whom the ouster suit will be heard, instructing him to make it a part of the record in the case.

McCrea protested that an ouster hearing before he has submitted to criminal trial on graft and conspiracy charges would be prejudicial. He declared there was no authority in law for an ouster hearing before he has been convicted of a criminal offense.

"I do contend that as an incumbent of this office carrying certain emoluments that I do have a right to be protected from assault by the State of a character such as has been attempted in this proceeding," his motion to quash the case declared.

The motion dealt only with a supplemental list of charges contained in the ouster action. McCrea had previously sought dismissal in a motion that challenged the original list of charges.

Head Of Kalamazoo Bank Shot To Death

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 8, (AP)—Abe VanBochove, 54, president of the Home Savings Bank here, was found shot to death in his bed room tonight.

A pistol lay on the bed beside the body, and Coroner H. R. Cobb said VanBochove had killed himself. The body was clad in pajamas.

VanBochove rose to the bank's presidency from a job as messenger.

Coroner Cobb said officers of the bank told of becoming alarmed when failing to arouse VanBochove on visits to his home last night and tonight.

The coroner said VanBochove apparently had killed himself Monday night.

TAKEN TO PRISON

Detroit, May 8, (AP)—Shackled between two other prisoners, John Kurzawa, the 21-year-old "profit killer," was taken from the Wayne county jail today to the state prison of southern Michigan to serve his life sentence. Kurzawa admitted complicity in the murder of Philip G. Loyst for the purpose of selling Loyst's automobile with forged title papers.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

New York, May 8 (AP)—The official German radio said in a broadcast intercepted by CBS early today that martial law had been declared in Turkey.

Caro, Mich., May 8, (AP)—Gerald Wolfe, 15, died tonight in the Caro community hospital two hours after an automobile he was driving turned over near Watrousville. He had suffered internal injuries. Four other boys riding in the car, which rolled over several times after striking loose gravel, were unhurt. They had been on their way to a church program.

Flint, Mich., May 8, (AP)—An automobile struck and killed three-year-old Donald Maxon today when he ran across the street from a vacant lot.

HOLLAND TESTS WAR DEFENSES

Berlin Denies Report of Troops Moving Toward Border

BY MAX HARRELSON

Amsterdam, May 8 (AP)—Influential Netherlands commentators advanced the suggestion tonight that the elaborate precautionary steps taken by the army and navy within the last 24 hours was a move by the high command to test the nation's defenses.

These were coupled with the declaration of the widely read Amsterdam newspaper De Telegraaf that although the international situation was dangerous the sensation caused by the government's measures was "not justified."

The Dutch army at present, the newspaper pointed out, is more mobilized than at any time in history and it is only logical that the authorities should make a test of their readiness.

(Berlin authorities issued a blanket denial of a report from a reliable source in New York last night that two columns of German troops were converging on the Netherlands frontier.

(The Germans heretofore have used the Netherlands border area as a reservoir for troops destined for service in the west wall and it was suggested this reported troop movement might have been for the same purpose.)

HOWELL BANK BURNS

Howell, Mich., May 8 (AP)—Fire broke out in the First National Bank of Howell at 2 a. m. today and, before firemen could get help to enter, all furnishings save the steel vault were destroyed. Cashier Stephen Itsell had to come downtown from his home to let the firemen into the building.

LEHR RECOMMENDED

Washington, May 8, (AP)—Senator Brown (D-Mich) today recommended to Attorney General Jackson the reappointment of John C. Lehr as district attorney for the eastern Michigan district. Lehr's term expires June 20.

House Votes Down Roosevelt's Order For Bureau Shifts

Washington, May 8, (AP)—By the one-sided vote of 232 to 153, the house voted today to kill President Roosevelt's reorganization order shifting the independent civil aeronautics authority into the structure of the commerce department.

The resolution rejecting the order now goes to the senate. Under the terms of the reorganization act, the order, despite the house vote, will take effect next month unless the senate also disapproves it.

Today's was the first vote to reject a reorganization order since congress, in the spring of 1939, granted the president broad powers to revamp the executive branch of the government. Seventy-seven Democrats joined 153 Republicans and two Progressives to roll up the total of 232 disapproving votes.

Despite the contentions of the president's lieutenants that the transferred CAA would have virtually the same powers as at present and that some economies would be effected, the members voted with those who argued that the shift would retard the progress of civil aviation many years and make the CAA subject to bureaucratic "political domination."

The house action, based primarily on objections to the CAA shift, carried down to defeat other reorganization proposals in the reorganization order. One of these would transfer the weather bureau from the agriculture department to the commerce department.

DETROIT SHORT OF POLICEMEN

Graft Inquiry Involves Scores, Vacancies May Reach 300

Detroit, May 8, (AP)—The grand jury investigation of graft and racketeering threatens to involve so many policemen that an emergency arrangement may have to be set up to provide for policing the city.

Police Commissioner Frank D. Eaman said today that by the time the grand jury completes its work there may be between 250 and 300 vacancies in the department. The normal personnel is more than 3,000.

"I am basing this figure," Eaman said, "on the assumption that indictments coming out of the handbook investigation will be in the same proportion as those which followed the investigation of the numbers and policy racket."

Eaman conferred with Mayor Edward J. Jeffries on the problem, which is complicated by the fact that policemen facing charges are under suspension only pending a final determination of the cases. True vacancies in the department would not exist while the cases pended, which might be for some time.

About 100 police department members are under suspension already due to grand jury action.

"We have got to anticipate any eventuality," Eaman declared.

Big British Liners In Sydney Harbor

Honolulu, May 8, (AP)—Passengers on the Steamship Mariposa reported today that the British Steamships Mauretania, Queen Mary, Aquitania, Empress of Canada, Empress of Britain and Empress of Asia were in the harbor at Sydney, Australia, when the Mariposa sailed April 26.

VICTORY SEEN BY BOOSTERS OF ROOSEVELT

THIRD TERMERS SAY NOMINATION IS 'IN THE BAG'

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, May 8 (AP)—Third term supporters regarded President's California sweep today as corroboratory evidence of what they have been saying for weeks—that nomination is automatically his, if he will take it.

Added to the third term triumphs in Illinois and Wisconsin and the support of many party leaders elsewhere, they saw it, at least, as strengthening Mr. Roosevelt's ability to choose the party's candidate, if he does not run himself.

Lead 3 to 1

The election gave a slate of delegates pledged to Mr. Roosevelt's renomination a lead of nearly three to one over the combined ballots cast for three other tickets. One of these, pledged to Vice President Garner, lost by more than six to one.

With everything still depending upon the president's decision to run or not, Washington saw that question put squarely up to him, but under circumstances which required no answer. He made none.

Party leaders from Georgia called at the White House with a resolution adopted by the entire delegation pledging their support for a third term. They presented it to Mr. Roosevelt.

"He simply read it," Gov. E. D. Rivers told reporters late. "We didn't ask him for any action or comment. We told him in advance we didn't expect any."

No Comment

And, a short while later, an Iowa delegation visited the chief executive. They presented a request from 70 Iowa Democratic leaders that Mr. Roosevelt approve an endorsement of his administration by their state convention and the instruction of its delegation for Secretary Wallace. Wallace has strongly urged a third term.

"The president did not make any commitment," Senator Gillette (D-Ia) said afterward.

(1) Returns from Tuesday's Democratic primary in Florida showed Senator Andrews far ahead of his nearest opponent but forced into a runoff primary in his quest for renomination. Late rural returns gave Jerry Carter, Townsend plan champion, a slight edge over Bernarr MacFadden, magazine publisher and physical culturist in the contest for second place.

(2) Returns from Indiana showed Rep. Halleck and Rep. Gillie both successful in contests with candidates of the Townsend plan organization for Republican nominations to seats in the house.

Republicans Confer

(3) Republican chairmen from a number of states conferred here with John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, on plans for the coming convention and campaign.

(4) Chairman Gillette (D-Ia) of the senate campaign investigating committee announced the receipt of complaints of "the improper use of state patronage and unreasonable expenditures" in connection with both Republican and Democratic senatorial primaries in Ohio," "numerous complaints" in connection with yesterday's Florida Democratic primary, and the dispatch of an investigator to study "very serious charges" that the WPA has been engaged in political activity in New Jersey. Regarding the Florida complaints, however, Gillette said his committee found them unworthy of investigation.

(5) In a radio speech, Rep. Jenkins (R-O) said that President

Veteran War Writer Webb Miller Is Killed

London, May 8 (AP)—Webb Miller, 48, veteran American war correspondent for the United Press, was found dead on a railway track in southwest London early today, the victim of an accident in the war-time blackout.

Authorities said they believed he had suffered a fall from a moving train while attempting to leave his compartment at Clapham Junction. They said he apparently did not realize, in the blackout, that the train already had started.

He suffered a hard blow on the right side of the head. Although the body was found at 5:15 a. m., it was believed the accident occurred after 9 o'clock last night as Miller was returning home after covering the house of commons debate on the Norwegian campaign.

Miller, who was European news manager for the United Press associations, had a colorful career as a reporter on a wide variety of war fronts, from Mexico in 1916 until the present European conflict.

His experiences were recounted in his autobiographical book, "I Found No Peace," published in 1936.

A native of Dowagiac, Mich., Miller was an employe on a passenger steamboat on Diamond lake, Michigan, and a rural school teacher before he took "a grandstand seat at the most momentous show in history."

He went to Chicago as a police reporter in 1912, then in rapid

YUGOSLAVS AND SOVIETS CONFER

Military Alliance With Moscow Predicted In Belgrade

Budapest, May 9 (AP)—It was authoritatively reported early today that a Yugoslav military mission would leave soon for Moscow to explore the possibility of a military alliance.

Balkan diplomatic quarters were quick to detect in this new development the possibility of allied-Soviet Russian cooperation in southeastern Europe where the British and French are trying to weld a defensive alliance against the Rome-Berlin axis.

It was said reliably that the mission from Belgrade, headed by General Vojin Maximovic, inspector of the Yugoslav national defense, would follow up trade and "political" talks already in progress or impending by discussing military matters with Rusian officials.

Authoritative sources in Belgrade made this disclosure shortly after it was reported in diplomatic quarters that Britain and France were offering Yugoslavia the assistance of troops, air forces and naval forces and a guarantee of Yugoslav independence and territorial integrity in an effort to seal a Balkan alliance against German or Italian aggression in southeastern Europe.

An offer of military aid reportedly has been made also to Hungary and Bulgaria by the allies. However, these two countries are said to have been reluctant to accept promises which might compromise their neutrality in German or Italian eyes.

In recent weeks both Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, Slavic nations, have been showing an inclination to lean toward the big Slav nation, Russia, for support, rather than to the western powers.

The belief was expressed in quarters close to the Yugoslav government that a Yugoslav-Soviet military alliance might result from the military mission's journey to Moscow.

Michigan Arbutus Faces Extinction At Pullers' Hands

Lansing, May 8 (AP)—Michigan's loveliest spring wild flower, arbutus, is being steadily injured by unthinking flower-pickers and is in danger of extinction, the state conservation department said today.

A spokesman said persons unfamiliar with the proper way to obtain the flowers have attempted to pluck the flowers. The stems, it was said, are so hardy that the root thus is pulled out and the plant dies. The spokesman said arbutus should be cut with a pair of scissors or a sharp knife. The plant cannot be successfully transplanted.

Whole Family Dies In Montrose Blaze

Flint, Mich., May 8, (AP)—Burns suffered in a fire which cost the lives of her husband and four children proved fatal today to Mrs. Emilly Anderson, 35.

All but Mrs. Anderson were trapped in a blaze which destroyed their home April 25 near Montrose. The fire followed an explosion which resulted when Anderson attempted to kindle a fire with kerosene.

Lord Of Admiralty Says England Will Battle for Narvik

London, May 8 (AP)—Some of the high points in the address before the house of commons today in which First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill defended the Chamberlain government's conduct of the Norwegian campaign:

Our numerical deficiency in the air—despite our superiority in both men and materials—has condemned us and will condemn us for some time to come to a great deal of difficulty and suffering and danger which we must endure with firmness until more favorable conditions can be established—as they assuredly will be.

The immense enemy air strength which can be brought to bear on our patrolling craft made this method (patrol by surface vessels in the Skagerrak to cut Germany's communications with Norway) far too costly to be adopted.

Losses which would be inflicted on a steady surface patrol (in the Skagerrak) from the air would undoubtedly very soon constitute a naval disaster.

We are asked why we did not go into Trondheim, Bergen and other ports. My view has always been fixed on Narvik.

The reembarkation of our 12,000 men—for that is all there were (north and south of Trondheim)—less than a division—was accomplished with very great skill and I may say with very good luck. (He said there were 120,000 Germans.)

Abandonment of the Trondheim attack saved us from a most disastrous debacle.

At no time in the last war were we in greater peril than we are now * * *.

I suppose the enemy knows we are so there is no harm in saying that we are (in possession of Narvik airport).

We now fight for Narvik.

GROUP FORMED TO AID DEWEY

Lansing Organization Not Opposing Vandenberg; Kipke Is Officer

Lansing, May 8, (AP)—Michigan supporters of Thomas E. Dewey formed an organization today designed to swing the state's delegation to the Republican national convention to the New York prosecutor's presidential bandwagon if a first-ballot test indicates the cause of U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is lost.

Chairman Melville B. McPherson of the state tax commission, a veteran Kent county Republican, heads the executive committee created during a rally today as a nucleus for the Dewey organization. The committee is charged with furthering the selection of national convention delegates who will accept Dewey as their second choice among Republican presidential aspirants.

Harry G. Kipke, regent and former head coach of the University of Michigan, was named first vice chairman of the group. State Senator Herman Dignan of Owosso, friend and neighbor of the Dewey family in Tom's boyhood days, is second vice chairman.

Other members are Rep. Haskell N. Nichols of Jackson, Don Gilbert, who heads Saginaw's Dewey-for-President club; Probate Judge Arthur C. Moore of Pontiac and Mrs. Alice E. Alexander of Lansing.

Both McPherson and Dewey, in addressing the rally, said there would be no attempt to deprive Vandenberg of the Michigan delegation's support until it should appear in the convention that he could not win the presidential nomination.

State Beaver Haul Biggest In Years

Lansing, May 8 (AP)—The second largest beaver haul in 10 years was attained by trappers in the recent beaver season, the state conservation department said today. Reporting 7,220 beaver taken, the department said the furs were worth $150,000.

In the coincidental otter season, the state's first in 15 years, 266 otter were taken.

FIRE LOSSES HEAVY

Lansing, May 8, (AP)—The state conservation department reported 9,497 acres of forest land were burned over by 370 fires in the state from January 1 to the present. The department said recent rains had held the forest fire hazard, one of the worst in recent springs.

ARMY FAILURE IN NORWAY IS HARD TO TAKE

CHURCHILL SPEECH SAVES DAY FOR MINISTER

BY DREW MIDDLETON

London, May 8, (AP)—Neville Chamberlain remained the master of Britain's war government by the narrow margin of 81 votes tonight after beating off for the moment the thunder of criticism which in two days of historic house of commons debate had threatened his ministry for its surrender in central and southern Norway.

The government carried a vote on a question of confidence at conclusion of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill's calm, firm, almost deprecatory speech, by 281 Tory votes to 200 for the combined opposition.

The conservatives' position was clouded, however, by the 134 absentees or abstensions, who, with those voting in opposition, make a majority of the 615 members. The British press association said 130 of these were absentees.

Resignation Hinted

Some political observers speculated on whether the 71-year-old prime minister, chastened by the unexpectedly large opposition vote, might follow the example of the former premier of France, Edouard Daladier, and resign. There was nothing, however, to confirm any such intention.

Men who had hammered at the government for two days took the vote as a victory rather than as a defeat. Jubilantly they sang, "Rule, Britannia," and shouted "Get Rodger!" as the exhaust Chamberlain left the house.

"Muddling" Charged

Should the man who led Britain to Munich and then to war to destroy "Hitlerism," actually go to the king to resign, his most likely successor would be Churchill or Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, possibly at the head of a government of all parties.

But the political situation was left in a great state of uncertainty.

One possibility, however, was that Chamberlain would now attempt to form a national government of all parties, inviting labor and liberals to take portfolios in his cabinet.

The labor party convention on Monday may decide to reverse its decision not to participate in the government.

Purge Expected

Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Samuel Hoare, air minister, Oliver Stanley, secretary for war, and Leslie Burgin, supply minister, were members mentioned as likely to go.

A day of drama and excitement such as ancient Westminster has not witnessed in years was capped when Churchill, a Tory "rebel" who fired many a barb at the Chamberlain escutcheon in the days of appeasement, rose to make the closing speech for the government.

Accepting "full responsibility" for the admiralty's decision not to attempt to force Trondheim fjord—a blow which Admiral of the

FAMILY FIGHT FATAL TO TWO

Estranged Husband Kills Father-In-Law and Self In Detroit

Detroit, May 8. (AP)—Two men died by gunshot today—the climax to an estrangement between husband and wife and the women's decision to live with her father, whom she had not seen since she was a baby.

Answering cries for help from Mrs. Maretta Hayden, 30, police found the bodies of her father, Wallace Thrasher, 53, apartment, house caretaker, and her husband, Russell, 35, of Denver, in Thrasher's basement apartment.

Chief of Detectives Paul Wencel said that Mrs. Hayden left her husband in Denver in April because, she said, he was "drinking and carousing" and had lost his job. She came to Detroit to live with her father. Wencel said her story went on:

Upon returning from work late today Mrs. Hayden found her husband in the apartment, talking "real friendly" with Thrasher. Hayden asked her to come back to him, saying that he sought a job in Detroit.

Mrs. Hayden promised to reconsider if Hayden would "make a man of himself" and thereupon Hayden drew a gun with the remark: "Well, which one goes first? I guess you will be first."

"My father jumped toward my husband," Mrs. Hayden said. "I heard a shot, saw the gun flash, and felt my arm burn. Then my father started to fall.

"As he was falling, he looked at me and said, 'Don't mind me. Run, run!' I ran through a furnace room out onto the street, calling for police."

The police found Hayden in a bedroom with a bullet wound in his head. Thrasher died from a shot through his jugular. Wencel said it was a case of murder and suicide.

Mrs. Hayden said her mother and father had separated when she was only a year old. She had learned Thrasher's whereabouts only last July after years of seeking him, she said. She said she and Hayden were married in Denver in July, 1938.

ent Roosevelt's requests that the pending relief appropriation be for the months from July 1940 to Feb. 1941, inclusive, indicates "he evidently is not expecting to be chief executive after Jan. 20, 1941, but wants to be well supplied with relief money between the 1st of July and the November election."

The California election contained one peculiar quirk. Despite the extent of the third-term victory, two of the state's 44 delegates to the Democratic convention apparently will be pledged to Garner. This was due to the fact that there were two vacancies on the Roosevelt ticket. Officials said they would be filled with members of the next highest ticket, that of Garner.

Commenting on the California outcome, Rep. Buck (D-Calif) one of those elected to the Roosevelt delegation, said he was "certain now that the president can have the renomination if he wants it" but "not at all certain that he wants it."

In California, Gov. Culbert L. Olson, the leader of the pro-third term ticket, asserted that "progressive democracy" in California "demanded a third term nomination."

Better Tools, Not Brains, Improved Present Autos

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—"The people who were here ahead of us knew as much as we do; we merely have better tools to work with; we have a greater accumulation of knowledge and experience—from the things that were done by those who preceded us."

That's a thought from the philosophy of one of the world's most noted engineers and scientists, Charles F. Kettering, who heads the research division of General Motors corporation, and visual substantiation for it may be found in the Ford museum at nearby Dearborn.

Varied Wheel Vehicles

There, in a building with eight and one-half acres of flooor space, Henry Ford has sought to assemble exhibits to picture the development of transportation from the earliest form of "drag" to the huge multi-motored airplane "Josephine Ford" in which Byrd flew over the polar regions. There are also tiny baby buggies and giant locomotives on rails flush with a highly polished floor.

In the collection are approximately 400 motor vehicles, and all of them, in some form or other, show adaptation of most of today's refinements in automobile design. The earlier type of cars are crude as compared with the industry's newer models, of course, but not nearly as imperfect as might be expected.

Early Knowledge Not Discouraging

The excellence of the workmanship bears out the opinion that the early designers were handicapped more by a lack of machining facilities than they were by inadequate or undeveloped engineering knowledge.

The fact that most of today's "refinements" in automotive engineering were known to the designers of the earlier vehicles has not discouraged the inventive urge.

Last year no fewer than 26,000 inventors offered the fruits of their genius to the Ford Motor company alone; many more thousands took their creations to other companies. Most of the offers came by mail; some were made in person; in some instances the designers were so confident of their prompt acceptance that financial terms were suggested even before the devices were examined in the laboratories.

"On several occasions," said a Ford official, "it was suggested that a down payment of $1,000,000 and subsequent royalties would be a satisfactory financial arrangement."

Only a fraction of the offerings, of course, are given laboratory tests, for few of them are basically new. Many of them prove to be "re-discoveries" of inventions upon which the patents have expired.

First Automobile Is of Interest

Of more than ordinary interest to automotive engineers and the average motorist, as well as to hopeful enventors, is a camparatively small motorized buggy, with high metal-rimmed wheels, described by Henry Ford as the first automobile built in the United States. This museum piece was designed and assembled by William Austin of Lowell, Mass., and is dated 1863. A two-cylinder steam-propelled vehicle, its piston rods are attached directly to a rear axle that resembles a conventional type crankshaft.

The vehicle burned charcoal, coal or wood and was capable of only a few miles an hour. Its heating unit and "boiler" are directly under the front seat and a down-turned stove pipe elbow carried away its "exhaust."

On an 1898 model steam "Eisenach," built in Germany, is a skillful adaptation of independent wheel springing; a number of Carl Benz "motor wagons" dating from the mid-eighties boast the steering column gear shift; several other vehicles have the coil spring in place of the usual cantilever type of buggy spring.

Cooling System Forerunner Displayed

The forerunner of the present type of radiator cooling system is displayed on one of the 1892 models to which Benz adapted the four-cycle gasoline engine designed by Dr. Heinrich Otto, a fellow German engineer. The major element of the system of half a century ago is a four foot long "sleeve" tank. It was constructed by telescoping a three-inch width of sheet metal pipe into a six-inch width. Hot water, flowing from the cylinder block into the "tank" thus created, was cooled by air rushing through the "sleeve" of the device when the car was in motion. The "sleeve" was placed over the left rear fender, parallel to the car body.

Lacked Modern Devices

There were no thermostats; no electric starters; no automatic spark controls; no heaters; no radios; no fluid clutches; no windshields or windshield wipers on most of these early models, but the engineering principles of their power plant, their transmissions, their gear shifting and their steering apparatus were basically little different from those of today's vehicles.

The Ford museum, upon which Henry Ford already has spent many millions of dollars, and the Ford assembly plant, only a short distance away, present a study in contrasts. In the one are a figurative handful of vehicles upon which a group of early "visionaries" spent years of laborious effort. In the other a modern assembly line rolls off a completed 1940 model automobile every 60 seconds!

A study in contrasts, yes. Yet Pope might well have been looking at the museum and the modern assembly lines when he wrote:

"Where order in variety we see,
"And where, tho' all things differ, all agree!"

ADVICE OFFERED ON MIDDLE AGE

Regular Hours and Moderation Recommended By Doctor

Boston (U.P.) — Middle age is an attitude of mind, Dr. William B. Breed of Harvard Medical school said in recommending a program to make it a "period of maturity in which ideally the exuberance of youth gives way to the serenity of middle life."

He recommended that a person in middle age select a friendly family physician and turn all medical responsibility over to him. He suggested milk, regular exercise and a hobby. Regular hours and moderation also were included in the plan, which he proposed at the closing lecture of a series of public talks sponsored by the university.

Dr. Breed's other "do's" included:

"Before you try keeping up with the Joneses, find out first where the Joneses are going.

"Be concerned about matters but do not worry about them.

"Conserve your strength for those people and things that are truly important in your own and your family's happiness.

"Distinguish between acquaintances and friends and conserve your energy for the latter."

The "Don't" suggested by Dr. Breed were:

"Don't try to treat yourself medically.

"Don't consult quacks.

"Don't consult specialists except on the advice of your family physician.

"Don't exercise strenuously on weekends and do nothing the rest of the week."

Crystal Falls Man Bids $757,415 On Big Federal Works

Pittsburgh, May 8 (AP)—Herman Holmes of Crystal Falls, Mich., submitted today the apparent low bid of $757,415 for the outlet works on the $9,000,000 Youghiogheny river dam, sixth of ten reservoirs designed to protect western Pennsylvania from floods.

The bids were the first for construction of the dam. U. S. engineers had estimated the outlet works would cost $816,528.51.

The low estimate will be turned over to the war department in Washington for approval.

ARMY FAILURE IN NORWAY IS HARD TO TAKE

Fleet Sir Roger Keyes yesterday said would have left Adolf Hitler holding losing cards in Norway—Churchill said Britain had 12,000 troops facing 120,000 Germans and had the choice of getting them out or "leaving them to be destroyed."

Britain's surface navy would have invited losses amounting to "disaster" from the German air fleet, he said, had an attempt been made to cut German communications to Norway in the Skagerrak.

Nation In Real Peril

Moreover, he warned, British inferiority in the number of war planes "will condemn us for some time to come to a great deal of difficulty and suffering and danger which we must endure with firmness until more favorable conditions can be established—as they assuredly will be."

At no time in the last war, he declared ominously, was Britain in as great peril as today.

His surprisingly mild statement, however, turned into a sort of cat and dog fight when the first lord, chin jutting out, angrily shouted at hecklers, "you dare not listen to argument," and added the most devastating rejoindeer known to British politics:

"It's not British!"

Reassuringly, he said the British now had the Narvik airport, and that "we now fight for Narvik."

Nevertheless, the tone of his speech was of a man who has lost some of his old buoyant optimism.

Germany's air perponderance must be given "its deadly due," he solemnly asserted as a result of Britain's failure to keep up in the last five years.

Government Weakens

He stressed the perils of naval occupations in waters teeming with submarines and destroyers each with its "bouquet of torpedoes" and dominated by German aircraft operating from nearby bases.

Earlier the tense drama had seen the sudden decision of the labor party to follow the debate with a motion amounting to a question of confidence which would force Chamberlain to resign if he lost.

Stung by the bitter words of Laborite Herbert Morrison, Chamberlain crumpled his notes in his pocket and sprang from his seat to cry, "I accept the challenge, I welcome it, indeed! At least we shall see who is with us and who is against us. I call on my friends to support us in the lobby tonight!"

After it was over the opposition MP's said the flight of 40 or more government supporters to the other camp and the large number of absentees seriously weakened the prime minister's control of his own party.

The opposition was surprised by its own strength and said it portended the early fall of the government.

The vote contrasted with the government's 292-129 victory on the first of five war-time motions of censure. That was on the question of restricting the sales of Palestine land to Jews, however, and did not represent in any way the test of today's ballot.

Churchill's speech by its very mildness and frankness disarmed the opposition which had expected thundering blows. He made no attempt to minimize the British defeat.

SUPPORT SLIPPING

London, May 8. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain's government normally relies on a possible 414 votes in the house of commons against the opposition's 191 votes.

In addition there are ten independent members.

This is the party lineup:

Pro-government: conservative, 370; liberal national, 30; national labor, seven; national, seven.

Opposition: labor, 167; liberal, 16; independent liberal, four; independent labor, three; communist, one .

Ordinance On Dog Licenses Enforced

Munising, May 8—Munising city police bared the teeth in the municipal dog ordinance here Monday when they hailed Sam Cremer of Brown's addition into justice court of Thomas J. Walters for refusing to buy a dog license.

A plea of not guilty was filed on Monday morning but later Mr. Cremer pleaded guilty to the charge and paid a $1 fine, court costs of $4.85 and purchased a city dog license.

City police have started collections of the dog tax, $1 for males and $2 for females, and all dogs caught running at large will be brought to the city dog pound where they will be kept for three days. If the owner does not call for them within the three-day period the canines will be killed with gas. Those claiming the dogs must pay a $2 fine and, if the dog is not licensed, must pay the license fee.

All dogs within the city of Munising must have a yearly city license tag and must not be permitted to run loose except on the owner's property. They should be kept on leash while with the owners on city streets.

The city dog license fee may be paid at the office of the city clerk and numbered metal tags to be attached to the dog's collar or harness are furnished on payment of the license fee.

Radio Noise Finder Makes His Report, Calls For Changes

Munising, May 8—William Giles, city radio inspector, has recommended the changing of the personnel of the city radio commission and a campaign to reduce interference as a move to improve radio reception here. In a recent report he states:

"After having been noise locator for several weeks, I have come to the following conclusions which may be of value to you in shaping your efforts to curb radio disturbance, which is to everybody's benefit, especially to invalids and shut-ins who depend so much nowadays for a source of enjoyment and reports of world events:

"1—Change of radio commission; persons in business, outside those having monopoly, cannot be expected to exert pressure that would harm their business.

"2—Advertise the fact that, say in two weeks, a drive to end disturbance will be vigorously started. Also advising what can be done to stop noise at very little expense to homeowners of small devices and where these filters can be obtained.

"3—I am sure this campaign will be successful and I can point out Cox Addition and west end of Munising as examples where, after at least part of the noise has been cleared, people are enthusiastic about the results; but there may be some opposition from parties who would not be willing to cooperate, and from some businesses when it is found that it will cost them a few dollars to remedy their noise creators."

A city ordinance regulates electrical interference with the use of radios. It provides that it shall be unlawful to operate equipment which causes reasonably preventable electrical interference between the hours of 6 a. m. and midnight; that owners of equipment which causes interference shall be notified and allowed ten days to correct the trouble. It also provides for creation of the radio commission and outlines its duties, and provides penalties for violators of the ordinance. This ordinance was adopted in 1938.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Munising, May 8—Charles Lonesky, CCC enrollee, pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and was given a 30-day jail term in Justice J. Donlin Leiphart's court on Monday morning. The sentence was given when Lonesky failed to pay a fine of $25 and costs. The arrest was made by State Trooper Harold Bliss.

Also on Monday morning Justice Leiphart sentenced Alfred Bonner, 50, of Munising, to 60 days in jail for driving a car while under the influence of intoxicating liquor after he failed to pay a $50 fine and costs of $5.05. Elmer F. Clerc, 25, of Munising, who was with Bonner, was also arrested by Trooper Bliss and Patrolman Willard Crooks on the charge of being drunk. Clerc paid costs of $5.05.

Charles Alto, 27, of Eben, pleaded guilty Monday morning in Justice Thomas J. Walter's court to a charge of assault and battery and paid a fine of $15 and costs of $5.55. With him was Eino Miemi, 25, of Rumley, who pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly and paid a fine of $5 and court costs of $6.80. The two were arrested Sunday night in Trenary by Trooper Bliss on the complaint of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Traunik.

Munising Student Seeks Scholarship

Munising, May 8—One of six candidates competing for a scholarship at the Michigan State college, East Lansing, will be John Artibee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Artibee, Lynn street. He and Leonard Hill of Chatham will be the two Alger county youths who will be seeking the honor. George Erickson, of Manistique; Kenneth Cleereman, Escanaba; Theodore Thompson, Faithorn; and Emma Wickland, Stephenson, will be the other four who are candidates for the scholarship. The six, selected from over thirty candidates for the award, will take their examinations at Crystal Falls on Friday, May 11.

Two scholarship awards will be made this year instead of one, according to John Kelly of Manistique, State college alumni scholarship chairman for the thirtieth district.

Free tuition for the first year of college will be the award and scholarship winners who maintain a B rating in their college work may have the award renewed for each of their four years of school.

Cooks School Group Skips To Munising

Munising, May 8—Fifteen senior class students from Cooks high school spent part of Wednesday here visiting scenic spots on their annual "skip" day. The class, the largest graduated from the Cooks school, went from here to Marquette.

The group, travelling in three cars, were: John Hartman, John Lakosky, Marion Carley, Rose Tanguay, Kenneth Blosser, Harold Winkle, Madeline Popour, Beatrice Wolfe, Thelma McDonald, Harry Strasler, Lucille Savage, Elaine Bossom, Ruth Olson, Ray Wilson and Robert Payne.

Graduation exercises for the group will be held on May 23.

VETERAN WAR WRITER, WEBB MILLER DEAD

succession covered the American punitive expedition to Mexico in 1916, reported in Washington and New York, and began his career in Europe in 1917.

Besides the World war, which he saw from the British and American fronts in France, he covered the Riff uprising in Morocco in 1925, the Ethiopian invasion, the Spanish civil war, the Russian-Finnish war of a few months ago, and a host of other historic events such as the Munich conference and the German march into Czecho-Slovakia.

(General John J. Pershing, who knew Miller in Mexico and France, said he was "profoundly grieved" at the death of "an able and reliable correspondent and an outstanding American in every respect.")

He is survived by his widow, Marie, and a son, Kenneth, 18, both of whom are in the United States.

BRIDGE WORK IS PROGRESSING

Traffic Has Temporary Span At Days River Till Job Ends

Work on the construction of a new concrete bridge over the Days River near Rapid River on highway US-2-41 is progressing favorably, highway department officials said yesterday.

A temporary span has been constructed for convenience of traffic and now is being used. Construction crews now are in the process of demolishing the existing structure.

The new bridge will be 35 feet in width, removing traffic dangers caused by the former narrow structure.

L. W. Brumm, contractor of Marquette, is in charge of construction of the new span. It is expected the bridge will be completed on or before August 1.

Each member of the band has in his possession, tickets for the concert.

Does Not Advocate Wide-Open Saloons

State Senator James D. Dotsch of Garden stated yesterday that he does not advocate "wide-open saloons" in Michigan, as some persons may have gotten the mistaken impression from his remarks at the recent meeting of the Upper Peninsula Liquor Vendors' association.

At the meeting, Senator Dotsch stated that he felt that the enforcement of state liquor regulations in the Upper Peninsula sometimes had been unfair due to the fact that the commission members were not acquainted with conditions here. The senator emphasized, however, that he does not wish to have his remarks construed as meaning that he believes there is "too much regulation of liquor vendors."

"Are We Down-Hearted?"

It seems that it takes more than Britain's recent war reverses to dim the spirits of her troops, especially World war veterans who are serving again. In close harmony, above, are members of the Auxiliary Military Pioneer Corps, pictured at their English training center. The corps is composed of men between 30 and 50 years old, many of whom fought in the World war.

Winners Are Named In Kite Flying and O'Leary Competition

The third annual Kiwanis club kite tournament was conducted last night at the Fair Grounds with approximately twenty-five boys participating. Arthur Mesier was the individual star of the meet winning two firsts and dividing honors in a third event.

Honors for the most unusual kite went to Norman Hanson who walked from Fifth avenue south and 14th street to display a neat little blue model patterned along airplane lines.

The tournament was conducted by Ross Stoakes and Clem Tordeur of the Kiwanis club and Bevier Butts, city recreation director.

O'Leary Winners

Forty-nine girls participated in the third annual O'Leary contest conducted for girls at the city recreation center and Webster Annex. The first three place winners in the city are as follows:

Age 7, Recreation Center, Beverly Feldstein 1st, Webster Annex, Darline Gartland 2nd. Age 8, Recreation Center, Joan Lee Caloutte 1st, Webster Annex, Gladys Nelson 2nd. Age 9, Recreation Center, Jo Anne Barron 1st, Rose Mary Lequia 2nd, Joanne Bink 3rd. Age 10, Recreation Center, Mary Jane Belanger 1st, Boone Jean Caloutte 2nd, Webster Annex, Stella Sliva 3rd. Age 11, Webster Annex, Frances Sliva 1st, Recreation Center, Shirley Dufresne 2nd, Arleen Pirlot 3rd. Age 12, Recreation Center, Shirley Palmateer 1st, Helen Anderson 2nd. Age 13, Recreation Center, Mary Jane Dufour 1st. Age 14, Recreation Center, Marion Menard 1st, Catherine Beaudry 2nd.

The contest was conducted by Miss Doris Costley, WPA recreational leader, cooperating with the city department of parks and recreation. The next event for girls in the spring program of contests will be hopscotch. All girls interested are invited to contact Miss Costley at one of the centers.

Obituary

MISS MARGARET K. WADE

Funeral services for Miss Margaret Katherine Wade were held at a requiem high mass at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Patrick's church, the Very Rev. Fr. Thomas A. Kennedy officiating.

At the Offertory of the mass, William Ramspeck, Jr., sang "O Cor Jesu," and as the body was being taken from the church, Mrs. Walter O'Connell sang, "Jesus, Jesus, Come to Me."

Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery. Pallbearers were Roy and Maynard Swaby, Dr. C. J. Corcoran, James Donovan, Leo Dineen and Herman Roberge.

Those attending the services included Mrs. John A. Wade, Waukegan, Ill.; Mrs. S. J. Connors and Mrs. Clarence Dorschel, Green Bay; Mrs. William McCusker, Milwaukee; and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rodgers of Denmark, Wis.

GEORGE JOHNSTON

The Rev. Ivan O. Gonser of the Gladstone Methodist church will officiate at funeral services to be held Friday at 2 p. m. at Fayette for George Johnston, who died in Anacona, Mont. The body will be taken from the Anderson funeral home to the Congregational church at Fayette Friday afternoon. Burial will be in Sac Bay cemetery.

Hospital Head Injured

Menominee. — Sister M. Brigetta, superior of St. Joseph's hospital, and Sister M. Alacoque, a member of the local hospital staff, were injured late Sunday afternoon in Green Bay when the car in which they were returning from Chicago with Mrs. Emma Cavanaugh and Mrs. Matthew Cavanaugh of Rockford, Ill., went out of control when the steering gear failed, crashed through a guard rail and struck a tree near the Allouez viaduct in that city.

Sister Brigetta suffered a fractured left arm and cuts and bruises. Sister Alacoque was cut about the face and head. Mrs. Emma Cavanaugh suffered multiple cuts and bruises and Mrs. Matthew Cavanaugh received a severe laceration of the head and leg bruises.

Bell Makes Unusual Ruling In $10,000 Suit In Menominee

Lawyers in this district yesterday were commenting on what they called a very unusual procedure by Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell, now presiding in Menominee, whereby he dismissed a case before any testimony had been taken.

It was a $10,000 damage case of Fred Salewsky against Margaret Salewsky Wright, his daughter, both of Menominee township, brought in circuit court after a similar case, brought by the woman's mother, had been fought to the state supreme court and lost. Auto accident injuries were the basis of the suit.

Paul Cholette of Grand Rapids and Denis McGinn of Escanaba were the attorneys for the defendant in the case this week. Only the opening argument of counsel had been made when Judge Bell called a halt to the proceedings.

A motion for a new trial in the suit of Louis Pokladowski by Sophie Pokladowski, next friend, against Frank Barr, in which the plaintiff was awarded $2,500 damages in the April court term at Escanaba, was denied by Judge Bell in Menominee.

Attorneys for Barr based their plea on the fact that the plaintiff's counsel had allegedly improperly introduced the subject of insurance before the jury.

Civic Leaders Thanked

Menominee.—The city council of Menominee last night voiced the city's gratitude to Alfred A. Henes, E. A. Meyer, E. P. Smith and the M. & M. Light & Traction company for their generous donations which have enabled the city to finance the WPA project which is now extending the Menominee beach breakwater. The total cost of the project is about $56,000 of which the city is contributing only about $2,000 because of the gifts made to the project fund.

Alderman Abe Guy of the Third ward introduced the resolution expressing the city's gratitude for the "fine civic spirit" of the men and firms which made the gifts.

Colmer-Harrison Bill

HOPES that local governmental units within national forest boundaries will receive financial aid to compensate for the removal of many acres of land from the tax rolls have been revived with the submission of the Colmer-Harrison bill to Congress.

When the federal government launched its large-scale acquisition program in the Upper Peninsula several years ago, there was a veritable windfall of delinquent tax money, which helped much in tiding county and township governments over the early years of the depression. But now these taxes are spent, and the money is not coming into the treasury like in former years when the property was under private ownership.

Agitation for congressional legislation has been started in the Upper Peninsula on a number of occasions, and the idea has spread in recent years to Wisconsin, Minnesota and other states which are faced with similar tax problems. Under the provisions of the Colmer-Harrison bill, $151,000 would be alloted to the cutover area of Michigan, $80,000 to northern Wisconsin and $97,000 to upper Minnesota.

Support for the Colmer-Harrison bill has been given by school and other local governmental officials in Minnesota, and an effort is being made to enlist the cooperation of the other states to present an united front in urging Congress to enact the measure into law.

Just how much financial aid to these local governments need? This is the question that has been hard to answer. It must be remembered that much of the land taken over by the federal government for forest and park purposes had been abandoned by the private owners and would not be yielding any more tax revenue.

Under the present federal forest law, 25 per cent of proceeds from the sale of timber is given over to the local schools. Where the rub comes in, however, is that many of the so-called forests are merely cut-over wastes, and will not have merchantable timber for many years to come. In the meantime, some of the local governmental units are having their fiscal difficulties.

There are some instances, however, where the clamor for federal aid for the forest communities is coming from local government officials, who are primarily interested in fatter salaries for themselves. The facts of the situation should be ascertained for there is the danger that remedial legislation of this type could retard the forest development program. Quite likely, the money that would be appropriated to aid local governments would be in the end merely subtracted from the funds usually allotted for tree planting, fire control and other conservation work in the national forests.

Bids for Conventions

ESCANABA is making a bid for the return of the Rotary and Lions district conventions in 1941, and a number of other meetings are being sought for it is realized that such events are of considerable monetary and advertising value to a community.

Conventions are one of the institutions that mark American life off from life in almost any other country. Fraternal, commercial, political, religious, social, business and cultural institutions center around their annual conventions.

It's a good custom. It forms an annual check and audit for the organizations. It creates new friendships and associations, gets the country acquainted with itself, lessens sectionalism. And it is a big industry in itself, helping to spread money around.

The average convention guest stays 4.23 days in the host city. He spends $14.76 a day, according to the International Association of Convention Bureaus.

Escanaba is an ideal convention city. Its large meeting places, like the Wm. W. Oliver and William Bonifas memorial auditoriums, fine hotels and restaurants, and other advantages, along with the special services performed by the Chamber of Commerce staff combine to assure organizations that their conventions will be successful affairs. Organizations cannot go wrong in choosing Escanaba as a convention city.

Travel on Installment

ADD to the innovation of rail-auto service introduced on May 1 the new travel credit plan, sponsored by 66 American railroads, which will make possible the purchase of railway trips and tours on the monthly installment plan. It is just the same as buying an automobile or radio, with the added feature that no down payment is required.

Use of the travel credit plan, which will go into effect on May 20, requires no collateral, only the signature of the individual. The cost of the proposed trip, however, must total $50 or more. Patrons will have 12 months to pay for their tickets.

A nation-wide survey of the vacation and traveling practices of average Americans indicates that many persons are frequently forced to forego trips or vacations because of financial stringency right at the only period of the year in which they can get away to enjoy themselves. Economists look upon the plan as probably the most dramatic and far reaching step ever taken by the railroads in their efforts to make rail travel a commodity which can be enjoyed by the whole public. It is regarded as evidence of the progressive of the American railroads of today, alert to every opportunity for providing new and improved service.

Tourist Cabin Control

LEGISLATION providing for strict regulation of tourist cabins is asked in a resolution adopted at the convention of the Michigan Sheriffs' association held at Cadillac.

The use of tourist cabins as hideouts by criminals, no doubt, is one of the reasons for the action taken by the sheriffs. Of course, hotels also have given lodging to many gangsters, but the law enforcement officers believe there is room for improvement in the operation of tourist cabins. Better registration records and cooperation with the police in tipping them off about the presence of suspicious characters are probably what are desired.

The principal reason, however, must be the use of tourist cabins for immoral purposes. Surveys made recently in various parts of the country by a well known picture magazine revealed that some cabin operators will not cater to the overnight business, but rent their places only to couples who will be occupying them for a short time. This is one of the many new social problems that have arisen in this automobile age.

Wrong in Denmark?

ONE of the governmental agencies, which has established offices in several cities of Michigan, recently instituted an unusual policy that does not seem fair to those concerned.

When the offices were established slightly more than a year ago, the owners agreed to make alterations and improvements for a certain amount of rental money. But recently, the governmental agency turned over the rental of its various offices to a Detroit real estate agent, who approached the owners and said they would have to reduce their rents at an average of 25 per cent. So far, the picture looks all right to the taxpayers, but then the real estate agent demanded that the owners pay him an annual commission of ten per cent.

It may be all right to say that such things are done in private business, but in this case is it fair to the owners who were required to make a considerable investment to remodel their offices to meet the needs of the governmental agency? If there is a change in administration, will there be a different real estate agent appointed to collect those 10 per cent commissions?

We can see where there would be opportunities for another good political racket.

AROUND THE PENINSULA
(Ironwood Globe)

Taxpayers groups from every county in the Peninsula are scheduled to meet in Marquette May 22, the purpose of which is to promote more efficient and economical government. This could be one of the most important meetings in years, especially if tax reductions were definitely outlined and dater laid before all governmental units. There is scarcely a unit of government in the Peninsula which can't get a good deal more for its money or, to state it another way, get a good deal more for less money.

This is magazine salesmen time and Don Smith, secretary of the Iron Mountain Chamber of Commerce, gives a timely warning for residents of his community to guard against being victims of the old "working through college" racket. Then, too, there are the solicitors who claim to be orphans, those who claim to have been sent to homes by pastors, and what not. As Smith suggests, anyone who wants to buy a magazine should buy it through a recognized local dealer. That's one way of making sure that the magazine will be delivered.

Chase S. Osborn of Sault Ste. Marie, former governor who attacked Governor Dickinson last week as unfit to continue in office and called the governor the chief bartender of the state, hasn't lost his love for space in newspapers. In addition to the generous space he got throughout the state through press association dispatches, his home town paper at the Soo devoted nearly 150 inches to the attack. That's the equivalent of more than seven columns. He even told how as a child "we bought one hog's heart (for five cents) and divided it among a family of ten," to mention one of the many things he touched upon in writing generously about his personal history while giving Governor Dickinson advice.

The first all steel tug ever built in Escanaba has been launched by Capt. B. J. Gallagher, marine contractor, and will be put into service on dock construction projects at both Menominee and Frankfort. The vessel is a far cry from the tugs of old days. It has electric lights, running water, a wood and coal burning galley stove and built in refrigerator. The old tugs had none of these conveniences except the galley stove, of course, and were smelly coal burners with cat-as-catch-can accommodations for the crew.

The birthday of Mrs. Caroline Quinby of Menominee, who was 89 last week, is always the occasion for reminiscing. Her story is somewhat fascinating to the Menominee youngsters of today, for she relates that her school teacher had to row across the Menominee river each day to take charge of her classes, that her father paid $50 for the present leading business block site in Menominee, and that she saw the first bridge built across the Menominee river and the first railroad tracks laid to her community.

James L. (Dad) Deagon, whose death occurred last week in Florida, was one employe at the branch state prison in Marquette who wasn't affected by politics. He was steward at the prison for nearly a half century and despite the numerous changes in administrations remained at his important post. To superintend all cooking and baking for hundreds of prisoners was, it must be admitted, an important task and it was surprising that politics failed to touch him.

Electors of Crystal Falls township decided their schools should remain open until May 31, and the decision was reached by a substantial margin. In the proposal to increase the millage for schools by two mills for five years, 76 per cent of the voters cast "yes" ballots. Normally the two-thirds maority required by law is difficult to obtain, as numerous cities, towns and villages have experienced. Failure to obtain at least a two-thirds majority would have meant the immediate close of Crystal Falls township schools.

Census figures, when finally verified, may reveal Escanaba as the largest city in the Peninsula. An unofficial figure gives Escanaba's population as 14,687, a gain of 163 over the 1930 population. Marquette has 15,492. Now the old cry probably will go up that the prison population shouldn't be included in Marquette's figure.

A VOICE FROM A NEUTRAL
(Milwaukee Journal)

In another column on this page is printed the voice of a young man in the Netherlands. His country faces and has to fear attack from Germany such as it has made on Denmark and Norway, the possibility of Japanese attack on its immensely valuable East Indian possessions. And yet this citizen of a neutral democracy declares that the battle in Europe is not between "freedom" and "barbarism," but between national egoism on one side and on the other.

A "new order" is necessary, this young man says. To that order he thinks the greatest help from the United States will be in not aiding any belligerent. His voice might be that of one of our own isolationists during the last 20 years. He hopes that the isolationists in the United States will prevail.

If for nothing more than its showing that even in Europe the situation is not all white or black, this letter is worth presenting. It is significant that in one neutral free democracy, threatened by one belligerent and in no danger from the other, there is an opinion that "there must never be conquerors or victors again."

We are not assuming that one man, even one thoughful man, speaks the opinion of the Netherlands, for we do not know. But, in the maze of propaganda and censored dispatches, an uncensored letter to a personal friend in America is refreshing. And the reminder that no side in any conflict is 100 percent right is food for thought.

Hearing nothing these days except what the candidates are saying, we are inclined to wonder what ever became of Confucius.

A Virginia prison has only one inmate left. The others tore a hole in a wall and escaped. Maybe the one who stayed hadn't finished a chess game with the warden.

Lillehammer is a popular Norwegian tourist center near Lake Mjosa, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. It is on the railroad running between Oslo and Trondheim.

In both winter and summer Lillehammer is a playground and has lured many American tourists, continues the bulletin. Its invigorating climate attracts health seekers, and Mjosa, Norway's largest lake, is a fisherman's paradise. The lake is noted for its large trout and for vendace, a whitefish abundant also in the lakes of England and Scotland.

Lillehammer has a population of 5,400. It is linked by lake steamer with Eidsvoll at the southern end of the lake, and Gjovik, the latter directly connected by rail with Oslo. The main railroad connecting with Hamar passes along the east side of the lake. It also passes through Eidsvoll.

—A NORWEGIAN DEARBORN—

The rural regions near Lillehammer produce quantities of grain and potatoes. Lillehammer manufactures agricultural implements, in addition to having other metal and machinery industries, saw and flour mills, and a good trade in timber.

The town is famous as the home for the past twenty years of Sigrid Undset, a native of Oslo. Madame Undset has written many novels widely read in the United States and elsewhere, particularly her Kristin Lavransdatter. Her home is an old log house, a type long common in Norway; it is a real antique brought to Lillehammer from a remote valley site and reassembled.

Just a mile from the Lillehammer station, at Maihaugen, is the Sandvik collection of historic Norwegian buildings a project somewhat similar to that of the Ford collection at Dearborn. Built solidly of logs and roofed with turf laid over bark, the old farm buildings in the collection had stood for centuries before being brought to Lillehammer.

In the display are houses, barns, granaries and chapels depicting the history and evolution of the Norwegian home, with period furnishings that show early Norse customs and crafts. One cottage, known as Peer Gynt's, dates from about 1500; the oldest of the 85 buildings dates back to 1440.

Hollywood Column

Bill Porter bats for Paul Harrison while the NEA Hollywood columnist is on his vacation.

BY BILL PORTER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—Bill Powell and Myrna Loy are back together in "I Love You Again." Powell is looking healthy and as debonair as ever. But his health and his elegance are going to take quite a beating before the picture is finished.

When the story opens Powell is a fuddy-duddy pottery salesman who makes a hobby of taxidermy. On a buying trip to New York he is hit over the head by a gambler and as a result loses his memory. When he recovers he finds himself among gamblers and confidence men and becomes one of them. He gets in a fight, is knocked down again and receives a black eye.

Then he meets Myrna Loy and they fall in love. In one of their love spats, Miss Loy wops Powell over the noggin with a plate full of scrambled eggs. He's again laid out.

None of these kayoes restores his memory, but along comes Frank McHugh and punches Powell in the nose. He falls again, striking his head on a door. He regains his memory and with it his stuffy personality.

Myrna Loy, who has fallen in love with Powell the confidence man and gambler, is so disgusted when she finds out he likes to dust pottery and stuff owls that she conks him over the head again with one of his own vases as the picture ends.

GOT ENGLISH DICTION AND GANGSTER'S ROLE

Three years ago John McGuire walked out on a 20th-Fox contract because they wanted him to change his American speech for more sophisticated English diction. So he went to New York and appeared in "Knights of Song" in the role of a young Englishman. Then he played George Bernard Shaw as a young man. He did other English plays, finally ending with the role of a smoothly in "Shadow and Substance." McGuire returned to Hollywood recently replete with Oxford accent and tried again to get into pictures. He did, in the role of a mug who talks out of the side of his mouth in "Street of Memories."

* * *

On the 20th-Fox back lot Jack Oakie was learning to plow a field. As a retired vaudevillian in "Young People" Oakie was supposed to be putting his hand to the plow for the first time.

"All you have to do is hang onto these handles and say 'gee-up'," said the horse expert. "But don't shout at the horse."

"Gee-up," said Oakie in a weak, frightened voice. Nothing happened. The horse still stood looking at him.

"All right, we'll shoot it," said Director Allan Dwan. "Action!"

Nervous, Oakie's voice stuck for a moment and then came forth in a yell, "GEE-UP!" The horse jumped and Oakie, who had the reins wrapped around his wrist, was jerked off his feet and sprawled on the plowed earth. "Cut," yells Dwan. "That was swell. It wasn't in the script, but print it."

In my youth, I never had the benison of such close companionship with a mule.
—Postmaster-General Farley in a "Mule Day" address at Nashville.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—The President ran into an unexpected hornets' nest when he broke the news privately to Representative Vinson and Senator Walsh, chairmen of the House and Senate Naval Committees, that he intended to veto the Navy personnel bill.

This bill was designed to rid the higher ranks of deadwood and also to retain in the service eight of the Navy's ablest flyers, slated for retirement largely because they are not Annapolis graduates. The bill encountered tremendous opposition from the brass hats, who when defeated in Congress, turned to the White House—with better luck.

Apparently figuring he had a selling job to do, Roosevelt summoned Vinson and Walsh and told them he was going to ax the bill.

Walsh promptly protested, quietly told the President he was making a mistake. Roosevelt expected this, since the Massachusetts Senator is no friend of the brass hats, does his own thinking on naval matters. The big surprise came from Vinson.

The Georgia Congressman is generally considered a close ally of the Navy high command, but this time he hit the ceiling. "You can't do that, Mr. President," he exclaimed. "That isn't right."

The President tried to soothe him by arguing that everything proposed in the bill would be done anyway. Ten, and possibly eleven, admirals will be retired and the eight crack pilots would be retained on active duty.

"Don't get excited, Carl," pacified the President, "everything will be all right without this bill."

—CONGRESS VS. NAVY—

"But the question isn't whether you will do these things without this bill, Mr. President," shot back Vinson. "The question goes much deeper than that. It is whether Congress or the brass hats shall do the legislating for the Navy. It has always been my understanding that it was Congress, elected by the people, which had this power. But apparently I was wrong and it's the brass hats who decide Navy policies."

Controlling his temper, though clearly irked by this blast, Roosevelt protested that he was not trying to flout the will of Congress. He insisted that there was a "better way" to handle the matters covered by the bill.

"I disagree with you," retorted Vinson. "It was the judgment of Congress that these things should be done, and if they are right, then what's wrong with legislating on them? Furthermore, I would point out to you that we spent almost two years getting this vital bill through Congress. Now all our time and efforts are wasted simply because you choose to be guided by the admirals instead of by Congress."

After this fusillade the President made still another attempt to soothe Vinson, but the Georgian rose and started for the door with this parting shot: "I still expect you to stand by us, Mr. President. Don't let us down. We're your real friends."

Note—One of the admirals slated by Roosevelt for retirement is Rear Admiral Joseph Taussig, whose "war with Japan is inevitable" statement was officially repudiated.

—SENATOR GLASS OF VIRGINIA—

After The Washington Merry-Go-Round broke the news that spry widower Carter Glass might marry again, a press association reporter telephoned the Virginian.

"Senator," he began cautiously, "I'm going to ask you an impertinent question."

"What is it?"

"Is it true you are going to remarry?"

"Young man, that certainly is impertinent," barked Glass, and hung up.

—NORWEGIAN NAZIS—

Not much of it got beyond the censors, but confidential reports to U. S. officials showed that there was almost as much Norwegian resentment against the Allies as against the Germans.

This was because of skilful Nazi propaganda. Norway was deluged with pamphlets and dinned with radio broadcasts to the effect that the British had been just about to invade Norway. In other words, the Nazis had come merely to head off the British.

This effect on Norwegian opinion was one of the chief reasons for the full dress press conference in Berlin at which Foreign Minister Ribbentrop issued a White Paper alleging that the British had everything cooked up to plunge into Norway.

Unquestionably, the Norwegians believed this to a considerable extent, since many of their upper crust are pro-Nazi.

Lines for Living

By Barton Rees Pogue

THE ONLY ONE

If you want to be the center of things,
Sort of an angel with well-grown wings,
The one looked upon as a doer of good—
You should have the only 'phone in the neighborhood!

Frail little voices, and deep baritones
Will call for people who have no 'phones;
They'll have you runnin' through rain and sleet,
And never say thanks for bein' so sweet!

In the middle of night you'd like to resort
To a crusty "no" or a sharp retort.
But you bridle your tongue, and away you go—
His mamma is callin' the Jones girl's beau!

They order their beans and potatoes through you,
Their coal, and the meat for the Irish Stew,
But here's where your spirit breaks down and bawls,
They'll ask you for credit on their long-distant calls!

O, a 'phone is blessed, and saves lots of time,
But that 'phone and the people don't always rhyme;
There's days when you're thinkin' some things not so good
For the only 'phone in the neighborhood!

Spring Luncheon, Concert Close Club Program

The final meeting of the year of the Escanaba Woman's club opened with a one o'clock luncheon Wednesday at the Delta hotel, and the appearance of Mary Pehrson, contralto, of Manitowoc, Wis., guest artist of the day, brought to a brilliant close a highly successful year's program.

The luncheon was featured by a decorative scheme entirely in the spring motif. Tall vases and low bowls of bouquets of early spring flowers, shading from the fresh spring greens and blues to blushing pinks were used on the tables and throughout the dining room.

A short business session at which reports were given on the year's activities by all departmental chairmen followed the luncheon and the meeting then adjourned to William Bonifas Memorial Auditorium for the afternoon program.

Mrs. E. E. Edick, chairman of the day, presented the guest artist, Mary Pehrson, who won her audience completely with her rare combination of gracious personality and charming voice. Mrs. Pehrson has an abundance of well controlled vitality and her irrepressible love of her songs adds to her subtle and gracious appearance. Her voice is superbly rich in mellow quality and she filled the auditorium with the easy flowing expressive melodies.

Mrs. Edick, Chairman

Her beauty of interpretation from the folk songs down to the heavy operatic numbers imbued her audience with the mood of each number, but outstanding were the negro spiritual, "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," and "O Mio Fernando," the aria from Donizetti's "La Favorita."

Mrs. Pehrson's program was complemented by the excellent accompaniments of Cecil Randolph of Manitowoc.

She graciously responded to the applause of her audience with two numbers, "Homing," and "Birthday Song."

Mrs. Edick, chairman, was assisted by Mesdames W. H. Williams, James G. Ward, B. L. King and Clella Cummiskey and Miss Fern Fontanna. Mrs. Edick also was luncheon chairman, with Mrs. R. W. Haddock, co-chairman.

Busy Session At Barr P-T Unit's Closing Meeting

An enteraining and instructive program and a business session at which varied matters were given attention marked the final meeting of the year of the Barr Parent-Teacher unit, held Tuesday at the school auditorium with Mrs. F. L. Betts, president, presiding.

The program opened with selections by the Barr glee club, composed of the fourth, fifth and sixth graders, and directed by Miss Gertrude Lund. The numbers were "Beautiful Dreamer," "Chiribiribin," "Shortnin' Bread" and "Morning Invitation," Eunice Holmes, Barbara McCormick, Harold Samuels and Chirles Vomastek singing the obbligato of the latter number. The songs were followed by a piano solo by Cecile Samuels.

Mrs. Bevier Butts read a paper on "The Battle of the Milk Shed," and Mrs. E. J. Noon gave a paper on "Money Is Important to Children," which was followed by a general discussion.

Installation of officers for the coming year was conducted by Mrs. N. E. Nelson, past president of the unit, and the executive board for the new year was named as follows:

Mrs. Clyde Frick, Welfare chairman.

Mrs. R. E. Whitney, Membership chairman.

Mrs. E. J. Noon, Publicity.

Mrs. William Daniels, Hospitality.

Mrs. O. L. McCormick, Program.

Reports On Activities

At the business session reports were given on two Parent-Teacher activities of the past year, the full equipment of a new rest room in the Barr building and the purchase of a castle tower to be installed in the near future on the new Barr playground. Announcement was made of the summer round-up to be held at the building on May 13, with Mrs. Alfred Potvin, chairman.

The Boy Cub Scout charter was read and presented to the unit by Frank Hirn, and a fine display of handicraft work of the Cub Scouts, which attracted much attention, closed the meeting.

BRUNSWICK STEW

(Serves four to six)

One four-pound fowl, 1 cracked veal shank, boiling water, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 3 small onions, sliced; 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1½ cups green lima beans, 1½ cups corn, cut from cob or whole kernels, canned; 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour.

Have fowl cut in pieces for serving. Place in kettle with veal shank, add boiling water to half cover and salt and pepper. Bring to boiling, cover tightly, and simmer over low heat 1 hour. Uncover, add onions, tomatoes, and beans and cook 30 minutes. Add corn and cook 10 minutes until chicken and vegetables are tender. Remove veal shank. Cream butter with flour until well blended and stir slowly into hot liquid over low heat. Let boil 2 minutes.

Upper Peninsula Women Back From Washington Meet

Mrs. Jennie Salmi of Marquette and Mrs. Edith Aspholm of Iron River visited in Escanaba Wednesday, enroute from Washington, D. C., where they attended the Institute of Government for Women, sponsored by the Women's Division of the Democratic party. The Institute was attended by 5,000 women, of which 300 were from Michigan, and seven of those, upper peninsula residents.

During their stay in Washington the women were guests at a tea and garden party at the White House, at which they met Mrs. Roosevelt and also Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and Mrs. Salmi and Mrs. Aspholm attended a dinner given by Congressman and Mrs. Frank Hook, at which the Finnish Ambassador and his wife, Minister and Madam Precope were honor guests. They also were greeted by Justice Frank Murphy.

On their return trip they stopped in Lansing, and through Representative Peter Legg of this city, met and visited with Governor Luren Dickinson.

Mrs. Leighton Will Give Travel Talk For WFM Society

Mrs. Fred Leighton will be the speaker on the program of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Central Methodist church at the group's meeting this evening. The meeting, which will be at the church, will begin promptly at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Leighton will present a travel talk on Europe. She will speak on countries which she has visited.

Refreshments will be served following the program. The society is extending an invitation to the public to attend.

ASPARAGUS SALAD, VINAIGRETTE

(Four to six servings)

One teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, few grains cayenne, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon chopped pickle, 1 teaspoon grated horseradish, 3 tablespoons vinegar, ½ cup oil, 1 bunch asparagus, cooked, or 1 can asparagus if preferred.

Mix seasonings, vinegar and oil. Pour dressing over well-drained asparagus, and chill. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves, with additional dressing if desired. Chopped parsley, olives, beets, or hard-cooked eggs may be added to dressing if desired.

Mary S. Meighen On Honor Society Program Saturday

Miss Mary S. Meighen, grade supervisor in the Escanaba public schools, will take part in the program of the third meeting of Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honor society for women engaged in the field of education, which will be held on Saturday at the Northland hotel in Marquette.

Miss Meighen will be leader of the symposium on "In Service Training for Teachers."

Delta Chapter, organized a year ago, comprises a membership of 23 women, representative of 15 counties in the upper peninsula, as well as of all the level of the teaching field. Membership in the organization is based upon the individual's contributions of valuable service to education, the community, and to constructive planning. The organization aims to encourage women teachers to improve their status and to attempt to gain equal opportunities for them both in training and experience.

The following is the membership:

The Misses Alice M. Dobie, Sault Ste. Marie; Sylvia Eskola, Hancock; Katherine Gillette, Calumet; Dora M. Hanson, Sault Ste. Marie; Elizabeth Harnett, Franklin Mine; Frances Herald, Adah H. Hess, Mildred K. Magers, Marquette; Mary S. Meighen, Escanaba; Florence E. Paton, Laurium; Ruth Schoonover, Negaunee; Anita M. Siewert, Houghton; Iva Suggitt, Dafter; Maude L. ## Buffet Supper To Open Party Monday

The Daughters of Isabella Mother and Daughter party, which will be held Monday evening, May 13, at St. Anne's parish hall, will open with a buffet supper, which will be served at 6:30 o'clock, instead of a pot-luck supper, as announced incorrectly Wednesday morning.

A program will follow the supper and a short business session will be held immediately after the program.

Mothers of the Circle are privileged to invite their daughters, and the daughters may invite their mothers, or other guests to represent them in either case.

Reservations which will be open until Saturday noon are to be made by calling the chairman, Mrs. F. X. Fontaine, or a member of her committee: Mrs. Med Beaudoin, Mrs. James Costley, Mrs. Roy Swaby, Mrs. Hugh Boyle, Mrs. William Shepeck, Mrs. M. E. Donahue, Mrs. Mary Riedy, Miss Alice Reau and Miss Florence Brazeau.

Gagnon-Murphy Wedding Is Held At Nahma Church

Nahma, Mich.—St. Andrews Catholic church was the scene of a beautifully appointed May wedding on Saturday, the marriage of Miss Marion Gagnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Gagnon of St. Jacques, and James T. Murphy of Saginaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Murphy, Iron Mountain.

The ceremony took place at a nuptial high mass at 8:00 o'clock at which the Rev. Fr. V. C. Savageau was celebrant.

Bride in White Satin

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely floor length fitted gown of white satin, with a deep lace yoke and leg-of-mutton sleeves. Her long flowing veil extended from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried white snapdragons and roses in shower effect with white satin streamers.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Frances Hruska, a cousin of the bride, wore a floor length gown of pink chiffon over satin with short puff sleeves and elbow length gloves, and she wore a coronet of pink sweet peas in her hair. Her bouquet was of pink snapdragons and deep pink roses.

The flower girl, Joan Besson, wore a floor length frock of pink net over satin with short puff sleeves and elbow length gloves and a coronet of pink sweet peas in her hair. She carried pink sweet peas.

Mrs. Gagnon, mother of the bride wore navy blue crepe and Mrs. Murphy, navy blue and white.

A 1:00 o'clock wedding dinner was served at the brides home with covers for thirty-two guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy left later in the day for a motor trip to Detroit, the bride wearing a grey suit and blue accessories. They will make their home at 1903 North Fayette St., Saginaw, Mich. where Mr. Murphy is a member of the Social Security Board for the Federal Government.

The bride is a graduate of Nahma high school and Cloverland Commercial College, Escanaba. Mr. Murphy is a graduate of Iron Mountain high school and Harvard University.

Out-of-town guests included: Miss Linnea Ottoson, Frank Murphy and Gust Fedrizzi, Detroit; Harriet Murphy, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ryan, Escanaba; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Casey and daughter Jean, Wells; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Murphy, Mrs. William Protagere, son John, Iron Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hruska, sons Jack, William, Robert, and daughters Betty and Kathryn, Mrs. Ed Johnson, Miss Marion Larson, and Mrs. Alfred Anderson.

Roosevelt Interests African

Pasadena, Calif. (UP)—Ernest H. Moser, long time missionary in Africa, told the Women's National and Foreign Missionary society, the strangest thing that ever happened to him in his career. In the middle of darkest Africa, he said, a native suddenly came up and said: "You're American. What do you think about Roosevelt?"

The house fly is fully grown when it is hatched.

Now Feeling Better Than In Five Years

Body Pains Dreadful At Times; Muscles So Sore and Stiff Could Hardly Get Around Before Her Trial of KruGon

"KruGon has meant so much to me," said Mrs. Nettie Clauser, 546 8th St., Benton Harbor, Michigan. "For so many years I had been badly constipated, nervous and suffered with poor digestion. Most of my life I had been nervous and in recent years to such an extent I would actually tremble at times. Indigestion was a frequent source of distress for me and much of the time any food I ate would not agree with me. Dizzy spells would come and I felt tired and worn-out. I suffered with pains in my left arm and right leg and my muscles were so stiff and sore it was an effort for me to get around. But now, what a difference this KruGon has made in my condition since giving me regular elimination."

"I am so happy over this modern capsule remedy, KruGon," continued Mrs. Clauser. "With the first box I was given proper bowel elimination and with it I noticed my nerves quieting. Now those dizzy spells are not a bother to me, digestion is fine and those aches and pains over my body have been relieved. I have full use of my arm and leg, sleep good and feel better than I have in years. I had no idea the effects of improper elimination could take such a heavy toll but KruGon fit my case as if made especially for me."

City Chart Pictures Weather Year 'Round

Want to know how hot it is likely to be on July 4? You can get about as good an idea as is possible without resort to the stars or the way your corns feel by consulting a map that has just been finished at the city hall.

The map says that the month of July has an average daily temperature, almost every day of the month of just 66 degrees, on the basis of weather records since 1871. That includes July 4. But in the last 15 years, there was one July 5 when it was just 38.

Will Serve As Guide

The map or graph of the weather is to be reproduced and will be distributed to the various city departments for very practical reasons.

It shows not only the average temperature for every day of the year, since 1871, but also the extreme temperatures for each day as registered in the last 15 years. Also the daily average of rainfall is graphed and the total average per month is shown.

With all this information available at a glance, the water department, for instance, will be able to anticipate what water demands should be. The may will serve as indication of when playgrounds should be opened in the spring or garbage collection or when opening the ice rinks is likely to be in order.

Most important, however, the chart will serve as a guide to steam and gas plant operations, indicating about what the demand may be for any month in the year.

The average temperatures, of course must be balanced with the extremes indicated on the graph and steam, gas and water plants will be ready for any unusual variations in conditions.

As for May 8, the average temperature is 47 degrees; May 10, it is 48; on May 15, it is 49 and May 20, it is 51. The May 25 average is 53 and the May 30 average, 55.

The average keeps creeping steadily up until July, where the graph levels off into a straight line at 66 degrees. At the end of July it begins a gradual descent of one or two degrees per day.

The highest for any July day in the last 15 years was on the 13th, when it hit 99. The lowest official temperature here in the last 15 years was 31 below zero on a February 8 and the highest February temperature was 52 on a February 1.

Home Economics Style Review At Chatham Monday

Silver Wedding Anniversary

On Saturday, May 4 at the Traunik hall, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mikulich entertained at a supper and dancing party for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bartols of Traunik, who celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on that day. About three hundred guests attended the supper and dance. The Nyman Orchestra furnished the music. Eight year old Margie Laurich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Laurich of Traunik made a speech of congratulation. Mr. and Mrs. Bartols came to the United States from Yugoslavia in 1913, were married in Munising twenty-five years ago, and now reside on a farm at Traunik, to which they moved from Forest Lake two years ago. They are the parents of two sons, Joseph and Frank.

There were numerous out-of-town guests who attended the party, among whom were: Mr. John Laurich and son Edward of Milwaukee, and Mr. and Mrs. John Mladenich of Marquette.

Junior Prom Saturday

Saturday, May 11, at the Chatham Hippodrome, the Junior class of Eben High school will sponsor a Prom dancing party in honor of the class of 1940. A marine theme will be carried out in the decorations and favors. From eight until nine there will be a reception. Dancing will begin at nine. Ivan Kobasic and his orchestra of Iron Mountain will furnish the music.

The committees in charge are as follows:

Decorations and Flowers—Aune Pananen, Audrey Stuer, Mary Laurich, William Mikulich, and Laurence Richmond.

Music and Program—Edythe Michelson, Annie Ostanek, Tynne Norlund.

Invitations—Aileen Yalanen, Viola Dunquist, John Salo, Daniel Malnar, Alfred Lindquist.

Miscellaneous—Angela Laurich, Elsie Bush, Barney Lindquist, Evelyn Johnson, Leslie Kallio, Ray Bush, Reino Hill.

The grand march will be led by the class president, Miss Audrey Stuer, and her escort.

Mrs. Arthur Schubert and son Arthur made a business trip to Marquette Monday.

Mr. Eino Luoma and Mr. Vaino Anttila of Eben were delegates at the conference meeting held at the Finnish Lutheran church in Gwinn Saturday.

Mrs. John Waldo, Mrs. William Laiti, and Mrs. Ollio Hoytya and daughters Myrna and Vida were Marquette visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Anttila visited friends in Gwinn Sunday.

Rolling Kitchen for Firemen

Grand Rapids, Mich. (UP)—Grand Rapids firemen no longer are dependent on the hospitality of neighbors for food while they fight flames. Members of an engine house crew have built a combination trailer-first aid station which follows the men to every fire. It has a kitchenette in one end.

Robert Moll Passes Ground School Tests

Robert Moll, of 327 S. Fifth street, this city, is among the 51 students at Northwestern university who have successfully passed the final examination in the Civil Aeronautics authority ground school, it was learned yesterday. Upon completion of flight instruction they will be granted private pilot's licenses.

The members of the course received 72 hours of ground training, including lectures on the history of aviation, civil air regulations, navigation, meteorology, aircraft and theory of flight, engines, instruments, and radio.

The class did exceptionally well on the examination, passing with an average grade of 85. The passing grade was 70. Highest score on the test was that of Thomas MacManus, a freshman in the college of liberal arts from Arcadia, California, who passed with a grade of 97.

Four coeds were among the students passing the examination.

Moll, a member of Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity, is a graduate student in the school of commerce.

COFFEE "CHERRIES"

The fruits of the coffee plant are called "cherries" by the coffee planters. Seven months after the flowers open, they are fully ripe, fleshy, and of a deep red color.

Boston Harbor to Be Swept

Boston (UP)—The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey is going to "sweep" the entire area of Boston harbor to see if there are any uncharted reefs and rocks. The sweeping will be done by two boats with a weighted wire drag between them. Any obstruction will be noted and investigated by divers.

COMMITTEE IS WAITING ACTION

State Welfare Commission Meets Today; M-35 Job Pending

County Welfare administrators were concerned last night over what action may be taken at a meeting of the state welfare commission scheduled for today at Lansing.

A county delegation which called on Governor Dickinson last week was told that there might be some relief for local needs as the result of this meeting.

The county committee, sent to Lansing on orders of the county board of supervisors, included Ole J. Thorsen, board chairman; Carl Person, finance committee chairman; George Weingartner, chairman of the county welfare board and A. M. Gilbert, administrator under the welfare commission.

The committee also is hoping for early action on relocation of route M-35 in the northern part of the county, which matter was discussed in Lansing with Louis Nims, deputy state highway commissioner.

The project would eliminate railway crossings and generally improve the road and also would provide a large amount of work as a WPA project. The county board passed a resolution at its April meeting asking that the project be undertaken by the state.

Mr. Nims neither encouraged nor discouraged the county committee, but said he would consider the proposal.

Forty and Eight To Meet May 11-12 At Crystal Falls

Beginning with a wreck of the 40 et 8, delegates of the American Legion and Auxiliary will gather for their annual fifth zone meeting Saturday and Sunday, May 11 and 12, at Crystal Falls.

Initiation ceremonies of the 40 et 8 are slated for 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon with a parade of the "poor goofs" set for 4:30. The commanding officer will be Tom Beaton, Escanaba, grand chef de train, with the arrangements being made by Erwin Olm, of Ironwood. Twelve candidates are expected to enter the organization and each voiture in the upper peninsula will put on a certain amount of the degree work.

The rest of the day and evening will be given over to the so-called "playground of the Legion," with a banquet at 6:30 p. m. Cards, movies and music will furnish entertainment for the ladies and the event will end with a dance to be given in the evening.

The fifth zone business meeting will open at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning under the guidance of H. O. Johnson, of Ramsay, department vice commander. Meetings will be held throughout the day until 3:00 p. m. and will include a caucus of the eleventh and twelfth districts and a business meeting of the Upper Peninsula Association of American Legion Posts.

RAYMOND WILL HEAR MOTIONS

Attorneys to Argue Friday for Review In Brewery Sale

Attorneys and others interested will leave here today for Grand Rapids to be present Friday when a petition for review of the referee's order is brought on for hearing before United States District Judge Fred Raymond in the matter of the sale of the Delta Brewing Co. property at Escanaba.

Sale of the brewing company for $26,800 to Jack Kader of Milwaugee was sanctioned on April 11 by Referee George C. Quinnell of Marquette and on April 18 holders of liens against equipment in the plant petitioned for review of the sale order.

The equipment liens amount to $14,000 plus interest and there is a real estate mortgage of about $50,000 against the property, holders of which also were reported here to have petitioned for review.

The petitioners hold that this sale did not allow anything for the mortgage and lien holders and that another auction bid of $3,500 cash, subject to the mortgage and liens, would have given them protection.

The hearing is called for 10 a. m. Friday.

Judge Raymond was expected to hear arguments of attorneys and to rule later on the question.

Hospital

Elmer Bridges of Norway was admitted to St. Francis hospital for treatment.

Mrs. John Williams of Wells was admitted.

Stanley Pach, LaBranche, was admitted for treatment.

James Norton, Gladstone, is a surgical patient.

James Gallagher, 1320 Ludington street, is receiving treatment.

Lions Speaker

FR. JOSEPH GUERTIN

Rev. Father Joseph E. Guertin, pastor of St. Anne's Catholic church will be the guest speaker at the Mother's Day program of the Escanaba Lions club to be held at the regular meeting of the club on next Monday evening.

NO FIGURES ON GLADSTONE YET

County Census Expected to End Soon; Other Counties Slow

No further figures on population in Delta county were available yesterday at the Escanaba office of the census bureau, John C. Daly, district supervisor, said.

It is expected, however, that figures on the city of Gladstone and the county as a whole will be available later in the week or early next week. While unofficial figures may be given for cities, towns and townships in the county, figures will not be available until the county has been completed, Daly said.

Escanaba, which had an unofficial count of 14,687, was one of the first communities in the state to report. Since that figure was announced, several more persons have been enumerated but an official figure will not be available until the report is completely checked at Washington.

Daly said yesterday that Newberry reported 2,732 persons, an increase over the 1930 figure of 2,465, and St. Ignace increased to 2,648 from 2,109 in 1930.

The local supervisor said that counting is slow in several communities because of lack of cooperation by the public. This is especially true in Chippewa county. Enumerators in Escanaba were given splendid cooperation, Daly said.

SEVENTY-FIVE PARCELS SOLD

Tax Sale Brings $910.46; Many Descriptions Go to State

Seventy five parcels of land went to new owners for a total of $910.46 back tax payments at the annual tax sale at the courthouse Tuesday and Wednesday, according to records at the county treasurer's office.

Most of the sales were made Tuesday, when the courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse was filled with prospective buyers and spectators, and a few more were added yesterday.

More than 1,000 descriptions were offered and those not bought in the tax sale revert to the state. Owners have eighteen months in which to redeem their property either from the tax purchaser or the state, the treasurer's office reported.

Regional Forest Service Engineer On Inspection Trip

H. C. Coleman of Milwaukee, regional engineer of the United States forest service, is on an inspection tour of the Marquette and Hiawatha national forests this week.

Coleman arrived Monday and will be here for the rest of the week. He is being accompanied on his inspection of roads and other engineering projects by Forest Supervisor Paul A. Wohlen and forest service engineer T. A. Hoffmeyer.

Escanaban Jailed At Fond Du Lac

Fond du Lac, Wis.—Arthur Chartrand, Escanaba (Mich.) WPA worker, started a 45 day jail term here Monday because Municipal Judge H. M. Fellenz would not believe that a "generous stranger" had given Chartrand a wrist watch.

Police charged that he stole a watch from Kenneth E. Karrell, Green Bay, while the two were riding to this city. The trip literally was on a freight train but figuratively on a wave of alcohol.

Chartrand admitted drunkenness but insisted the watch was a gift. Farrell, who was charged with drunkenness, signed a waiver of trial and deposited $10.

Program Of Hi-Y Conference On Friday Announced Here

The program for the Hi-Y conference which is to be held at the Escanaba senior high school tomorrow, May 10, has been announced. The conference is under the sponsorship of the Orange and Black Hi-Y society of the high school with Charles Follo as advisor.

The afternoon session will open in the senior high school study hall at 4:15 o'clock with a worship by Jim L'Heureux, a member of the society from the high school. Also at this time reports of the Hi-Y's will be given with about one minute devoted to the president's outlining the future programs of their clubs.

At 4:50 o'clock will be a financial meeting for presidents, treasurers and adult leaders under the direction of Merrill Enyeart and a program forum for all other delegates and leaders which will be conducted by Cliff Drury. Officers' method groups under the supervision of various visiting leaders will be held at 5:20 o'clock. Those attending these meetings will be presidents, secretaries, treasurers, chairmen of program, service, membership and publicity committees. At 6 o'clock there will be a free period at which time the boys will be able to look over the Hi-Y pin and book display.

Banquet In Evening

The boys will then go to the St. Stephen's Episcopal church where the banquet will be served with George Ruwitch, member of the Escanaba high school faculty, acting as toastmaster.

After the meal there will be a song fest and an address of welcome given by E. E. Edick, principal of the high school. Entertainment will be provided by the Escanaba boy's senior octette under the student direction of Tom Thompson, the senior girls double octette directed by Annette Anderson, and a marimba solo played by Peggy Donahue.

Election of a district councilman to the National Congress at Oberlin, Ohio, later in the year will be conducted by Cliff Drury. Camp Hayo-Went-Ha, the Hi-Y camp, will also be discussed.

A talk by Merrill Enyeart and recognition of new officers by Cliff Drury will close the conference.

Dr. Samuel W. Grafflin will be the main speaker of the conference with an inspirational talk to the boys. Dr. Grafflin will also address the student body at an assembly Friday morning.

Merrill Enyeart, a new Hi-Y representative will also be a main speaker at the conference. It has been during the last year that Mr. Enyeart has become interested in boys work. Last year he toured Europe and attended the World Youth conference at Amsterdam, Holland. He has lectured on this movement to boys of this country since his return. Mr. Enyeart has an attractive personality which readily lends itself to the boys interest.

About one hundred boys are expected for the conference from surrounding territory of Menominee and Delta counties.

2 Training Ships To Visit Escanaba

Escanaba has been designated as the liberty port for two naval training ships next summer, according to a letter received by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce from F. A. Braisted, director of the naval reserve, Great Lakes, Ill.

The U. S. S. Wilmette will come here July 27-28 and the U. S. S. Wilmington Aug. 10-11. These vessels will have a complement of approximately 20 officers and 220 men each.

FSCC WILL BUY EGGS IN STATE

Purchases to Continue Not Later Than June 30

Country storekeepers and farmers, who have been worried about the lack of demand and low prices for eggs in Delta county, will be cheered by the announcement that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation will purchase surplus eggs in Michigan and 12 other midwestern states. The period of purchase will continue until further notice but not later than June 30.

According to a statement issued by Evan S. Nelson, Iron Mountain, district FSCC supervisor, any counties receiving complaints from local egg producers or handlers that surplus eggs shipped into this district are interfering with the local supply are requested to advise them that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation is prepared to make purchases in any locality. Offers will be considered on both carload or less than carload lots.

Further information as to quantity, package, locality, point of delivery, inspection, acceptance and delivery can be obtained from Mr. Nelson at Iron Mountain or from the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, 506 South Wabash avenue, Chicago.

Prices of eggs in Delta county dropped to 13 cents a dozen recently while the amount paid in the Chicago market was 17 cents. The shipment of a carload of surplus eggs into Escanaba recently is believed to have been the cause of the market glutting.

TEN MILE CREEK PTA

The Ten Mile Creek PTA will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the school. Prosecuting Attorney William J. Miller will speak on "Juvenile Delinquency." Cards will be played and a lunch served.

Express Shipments Heavy Last April

The Railway Express company reports that express shipments at Escanaba showed a marked increase during April, largely due to the movement of smelt to all parts of the country.

The express company's records disclose that there were 3,535 shipments of fish, totaling 112,152 pounds, during April. About ninety per cent of this amount was smelt.

During the past month, there were 6,400 express shipments in all, as compared to 5,300 in December, which is usually the rush period because of the Christmas business.

Former Internal Revenue Collector Opens Law Office

Edgar W. Pugh, former resident of Escanaba while serving as an internal revenue agent, recently resigned his government position to enter private practice of law in Detroit.

A recent issue of the Detroit News carried the following item about Pugh:

"Edgar W. Pugh, United States internal revenue agent, who served as a conferee to arbitrate disputes between deputy collectors of internal revenue and income tax payers, has resigned from the revenue service to enter the private practice of law. He will specialize in federal and state tax laws, with offices in the Penobscot building. Pugh served under George E. Neal, chief of internal revenue agents in the federal building, and made decisions in hundreds of tax cases brought by the collector's staff against protesting tax payers. He is a native of Lumpkin, Ga., and came to Detroit in 1928. He studied at Wayne university and was admitted to the bar in 1933 while serving as a revenue agent. He lives at 275 Merton road."

Seven Trucks Work In City's Clean-up

Seven trucks and a clamshell shovel were working in the city's spring clean-up campaign yesterday, when work in the alley south of Ludington street was finished and the drive extended to other alleys in the south part of the city.

Two trucks were working with the clamshell, hauling away larger accumulations of rubbish; three other trucks and clean-up crews were hauling smaller accumulations in containers, and there were two regular garbage trucks on the job.

The clamshell and two trucks cleared away about 189 cubic yards in a day; the garbage trucks have been taking about 75 yards and the three follow-up trucks, 100 cubic yards.

The clean-up in the south section will continue three or four days and then will swing to the north side.

The clock on the town hall of Amersham, Bucks, England, has been going for more than 300 years.

Attends Convention

Mr. Henry W. Boyle, Bark River postmaster, left yesterday for Grand Rapids where he will attend the Michigan State Convention of Postmasters.

Forest Service Gives Warnings Of Fire Hazard

Extreme care should be used by motorists along highways in plains regions against dropping lighted matches or cigarettes, Edward Lee, assistant forest supervisor, cautioned yesterday.

"Fire conditions are extremely hazardous at the present time," Lee said, "because of lack of rain and a fire could do a tremendous amount of damage if the wind happened to be right. Motorists should be careful to completely extinguish their matches and cigarettes before throwing them out of the car. Campers, too, should be certain their fires are out before leaving.

"We would appreciate it very much if all persons seeing fires, regardless of how small, would report them to the nearest forest service official or CCC camp. Quick action often saves thousands of dollars."

Thus far, the two upper peninsula forests have a good record. Only about 13 acres of land have been burned over in seven fires, two on the Hiawatha and five on the Marquette.

Sergt. York May Run for Congress To Help Keep America Out Of War

Pall Mall, Tenn. (U.P.)—Sergt. Alvin York, who was one of America's greatest heroes in the World War, may run for Congress on a platform designed to keep the nation from entering the European conflict.

It was some 25 years ago that the big, broad-shouldered mountaineer threw a rifle over his shoulder and marched to a recruiting office to join the army and fight for Democracy. He went overseas with the 82nd division and became famous one winter night in the Argonne forest when he captured more than 100 German soldiers single handed.

A few months later the Armistice was signed and York came back to the United States to be acclaimed a hero. Congress awarded him the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was cheered and feted. But soon he came back to his home here in the Tennessee hills, married a native mountain girl and dropped from public sight.

Now York wants to run for Congress and use his influence to prevent the United States from entering another "war to end wars."

"I am seriously considering making the race," he said, "but have not decided definitely yet."

York declared that the United States should stay out of the present war but should be strong in national defense.

If York does make the race, he will oppose Rep. Albert Gore, D., Tenn., who is representing the 4th Tennessee congressional district.

York claims credit for helping the people of his community in many ways during the past 20 years. He has led the fight for new roads and new public schools. He has organized and built his own Bible school here where the teaching of evolution is barred.

The principal thing which stands in the way of his making the race, York said, is the Hollywood project to make a motion picture of his life. Producer Jesse L. Lasky has had several conferences with him recently about the proposed picture, "The Life of Sergeant York." If the picture is produced this year, Lasky wants York to go to Hollywood for a few months as adviser to the director.

York and his wife are the parents of seven children. The oldest, Alvin York, Jr., 19, is married and a farmer of this community.

York at present is serving as superintendent of the Cumberland state park near Crossville, Tenn.

New Firemen's Benches Are More Commodious

There will be more seating space at the fire station this summer for folks who think that the shade at the south door of the station is about the coolest in town.

The three-man church pews furnished five years ago by the Presbyterian church have seen their best days and are to be discarded in the next couple of days for newly donated four-man pews, six feet long, from St. Joseph's church. Clarence Vogel, St. Joseph's caretaker, arranged for the donation.

One of the new pews, or benches as they will now become, was given a fresh coat of spring green paint at the rear of the station yesterday and the other will get the same treatment as soon as some minor repairs have been made on it.

The old benches were brought out from the city hall basement storage space the first of the week, but haven't been used much. Now and then a more hardy fireman sits in the sun for a few minutes, but it has been too cold for much of this.

There are just six firemen to the shift, which means that the new benches will allow two extra places. But even at that, the firemen don't expect to always be able to get a seat. There are some regular customers, mostly older men, who drop around daily for a seat and a chat in the shade and sometimes just casual passersby stop to rest on the benches.

PUMP TO START AT COFFERDAM

Concrete To Be Poured for Bridge; Sidewalk Work Is Started

Pumping water from the cofferdam at the site of the Ludington park lagoon bridge will be started today and it is hoped that forms for concrete footings may be placed Friday so that at least one of the footings may be poured Saturday, City Engineer Arthur V. Aronson reported.

The ornamental rock bridge at the east end of the lagoon spanning outer and inner rims of the shoreline, is scheduled to be finished in a few weeks.

First concrete for sidewalks was poured yesterday in the WPA program held over from last fall. This was at Eighteenth street and Third avenue south, with some walk laid on each street. The total was about 80 linear feet or 480 square feet.

Laying of about 2,000 square feet of walk per day is scheduled for the next three weeks and when the 42,000 square feet provided for in the last fall program is finished, it is expected that a new $20,000-for-labor WPA program, including 33,000 more feet of sidewalk will be ready.

Still another WPA project to include more sidewalks is being prepared for later in the summer and persons wanting walks laid should contact the engineer's office, it was announced, so that the work may be included.

Paving work will not be started probably until after the middle of May, Mr. Aronson said. There are about three blocks remaining from last fall's program and more included in a pending program, which has been sent to Marquette for WPA approval.

ASIA'S HIGH AND LOW

In Asia, the earth's surface reaches its highest and lowest points: Mount Everest's snowy summit rises more than 29,000 feet above sea level, while the salty surface waters of the Dead Sea are 1290 feet below.

Official Of State Grange To Speak At Ford River Meeting

Wm. F. Brake, assistant steward of the Michigan State Grange, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Ford River Grange to be held in the Ford River township hall this evening. His subject will be the "Grange Benefits to Agriculture."

This meeting of the Ford River Grange will be an open meeting and the organization is inviting all farmers of the Ford River and Danforth areas to be present and hear Mr. Brake's message.

Don't Neglect More Than Half Of Your Digestion

Speed Up Digestion In Stomach But Help Other Vital Half As Well

More than half of the digestive process takes place after our food leaves the stomach. So, when you feel sour, bilious, sick and disgusted, don't take something that helps only your stomach—try Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Carter's Little Liver Pills speed up the other half of digestion because they increase the flow of a powerful digestive juice that flows into the intestines to help digest our food, lessen food decay and bring on the glorious feeling that goes with regularity. When this vital juice flows at the rate of two pints a day, most folks feel like shouting for joy.

But be sure you get the pills that increase the flow of this juice—that help the neglected half of digestion. Insist on Carter's Little Liver Pills—10 and 25¢.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 5-8

Allies Are Not Beaten Yet, Villard Believes

BY OSWALD G. VILLARD

Despite the German successes in Norway, it is not time to haul down the flag, nor to yield, as Americans seem to be doing, to a defeatist attitude. The war is yet in an early stage. It must not be forgotten that in March, 1918, after more than three and a half years of war, the Germans broke through on the Amiens front, opened up a hole twenty-five miles wide in the Fifth British Army and would have cut France in half had it not been that they outran both their own endurance and the possibilities of supplying them with food and ammunition. It was then that Haig issued his famous order to his troops admitting, with unparalleled frankness, that they had their backs to the wall and that the hour for the final stand was at hand.

But it would not do to overstress this. This war is different from the last one and the English will make a great mistake if they seek to console themselves for the tremendous blow to their prestige in Norway by reminding the world of those old sayings that "England loses every battle but the last" and that "England always muddles through" somehow.

English Outsmarted

This time England is trying to muddle through in the face of an opposition far superior to any ever encountered in the history of the British Empire. So far in the whole struggle between Hitler and the English for the last ten years, Hitler has outsmarted the English and shown superior brain power as well as greater military genius and the ability to make the lightning strokes for which he now is famous. Eventually, I suppose, we shall hear just how it was that England was not readier for the attack on Norway an dhow it was that it was so taken by surprise, and why it is that the British navy has failed to achieve more than it has. Undoubtedly the obstacles have been tremendous, but to a considerable degree the Germans have had to encounter those very physical and the English have complained.

What I should like to discover is whether the brain work of the British army has been going on in these long months since the war began, I mean brain work in the planning branch. When I left England at the beginning of December I had been told that in dread of an invasion a considerable force of England's best troops was being kept together on the East coast in readiness for a possible German invasion. If that was the case I am wondering why it was not possible to put that force on transports immediately and to rush it to Norway.

Should Be Prepared

I admit that it is not easy to land troops 200 miles above the Arctic Circle in a harbor which lacks adequate landing and docking facilities, but somehow the Germans always plan in advance and carry the thing through with a maximum of efficiency, and if they are to be beaten they must be matched by similar preparation. I had supposed that the British General Staff had prepared its plans down to the last move, either for the invasion of Norway or for a similar invasion of Holland.

With Hitler striking as fast as he does the British General Staff ought certainly to be as well prepared as was the famous Field Marshal Moltke atthe outbreak of the war between Prussia and France in 1870. Most people will recall that when the Field Marshal was awakened and told that war has been declared he told his aide to go to a certain drawer in his desk, to take out a plan with a certain number, to give the orders therein and to call him again in the morning. The story recites that he then slept peacefully and quietly until the next morning while all the instructions in that drawer in his desk were being immediately carried out.

When Hitler strikes at Holland, if he does, it will be even a more lightning stroke than the attack on Norway. In my judgment it will largely be an air attack. Why should he waste his troops trying to cross the frontier and then be face to face with the flooded districts of Holland, if he can achieve the surrender of Holland by the use of his airplanes? And that brings me to the crucial point of all. Have the British Government and its military officers realized that this war bears no resemblance to that of 1914-18, and that three-quarters of the fighting will be in the air—I mean three-quarters in point of importance?

Long War Pending

German military men told me in Berlin that they knew they were going to win because they had such an enormous air superiority. Nearly four years ago Goering was quoted as saying that when the next war with France came there would be no declaration of war and that the French would only know that war had been declared because he would be over Paris with 12,000 airplanes. It seemed such a fantastic number to aim at that no one took him seriously. Today the Germans have many more than 12,000 planes, and they are prepared to ward off a mass attack by the French air corps on the Western front while carrying on in Norway and keeping up their raiding on England.

If the British are finally defeated in Norway it will be because of inadequate air forces or the inability to get them over there. Meanwhile the layman cannot help wondering why it is that neither the British navy nor the Royal Air Force have been able to stop the German movement of troops into Norway by air and by water, and could not protect the landings and first advances of their troops into Norway. Now it looks as if it meant settling down to a long drawn out war with England facing daily waves of bombers from the captured territory in Norway. If this comes to pass it will be what the Germans told me would happen and what I tried not to believe, but duly reported to my readers.

Sault Ste. Marie. — Enumeration of the census in Chippewa county is being delayed because a number of persons, some of them prominent, refuse to answer some of the questions but to them by enumerators, and in one case a Sault high school teacher refused to answer any of the questions, according to information received from John Daly, district supervisor of the census at Escanaba.

Considerable more money is being spent by the federal government in the tabulation of the census, because of lack of co-operation of some of the citizens, according to Mr. Daly.

Preliminary census figures for the county are not available because sufficient returns are not in from the county.

Mr. Daly was expected to arrive in the Sault from Escanaba late this week in an attempt to straighten out the situation.

Northern Michigan

Many Factors Affect Farming In Region

There are several factors that limit the income and prosperity of farmers in northern Michigan.

1. Some farmers aren't using the good land they have in the most profitable way.
2. Many of the farms are too small as now operated to be self-supporting.
3. In certain sections the season is too short for profitable farming.
4. Farming is being carried on in some areas where the soil is thin, stony, and unproductive.
5. Some farmers lack the capital to develop their farms properly.
6. Farms are dependent largely on local markets, and when these markets contract, it's hard for farmers to make a go of it.

There are also areas in northern Michigan admirably suited to farming because soil and climatic conditions are favorable.

These simple conclusions indicate pretty clearly what needs to be done to make the most of farming up here.

Diversification Needed

To start with, many farmers could benefit a lot from intensifying and diversifying their farming operations. That means, for example, either growing smaller quantities of crops like hay and larger quantities of crops like potatoes and berries, or having more and better livestock to consume the hay and other forage crops they grow. It also means balancing the farm plan by growing a number of different cash crops, instead of depending on only one or two cash crops. In this way income on many farms can be increased without increasing the acreage.

Also if a farmer is to make the most of his present acreage, he must follow soil conservation and improvement practices, like using lime and fertilizers and turning over green manure crops like clover and alfalfa.

Some Farms Need Enlargement

Next, farm acreages can be expanded to advantage by clearing or buying more land in those sections where soil is good and other agricultural factors are favorable. As a general thing, it's better to expand already existing farms than to open up new areas.

Bringing new acreage under cultivation requires money. Where private credit is not available for enlarging existing farms, Government credit should be extended. It will be money worth spending, for even an additional 20 or 30 acres of land often is the difference between relief and self-support, a starvation income and a good living.

Such a program would increase the permanent assets of our country up here. Results will be to take many families off relief, give them a better living, and increase the general prosperity of the region.

Retirement of Poor Land

Where land is poor and the season short—in other words, where farmers can't possibly make a decent living—land should be used for something more profitable than agriculture. In some cases it should be turned back to forests or should be developed for recreation.

Turning land back to forests and recreational uses doesn't mean that someone is coming in to move families off their farms against their wish. Rather it means that farmers who really want a farm where they can make a living would have a chance to get one.

There would be no compulsion. It would be up to the individual family to decide what it wanted to do. And if it wanted to better itself, some agency like Farm Security would help it find a better farm, preferably in the immediate locality, and make it a loan so it could either rent or buy that farm.

Providing Necessary Capital

Two Government agencies that are extending credit to farmers for the purchase of farm land and buildings and for production loans are the Farm Credit Administration and the Farm Security Administration, both of the Department of Agriculture.

Both agencies are doing good work in northern Michigan. The FCA, through local Farm Loan Associations, lends money to individual farmers for the purchase of farm properties. It also makes loans for farm cooperatives and production credit associations organized by farmers themselves.

In general, the FSA requires less security than the FCA and makes loans to farmers in the lowest income bracket. Most of them aren't farm owners at all but rent the farms they live on.

In many cases they're folks who can't put up the security that local banks have to require to make their loans sound. Without FSA loans they would have to leave the farm and either go to town to compete with town folks for a job or end up on WPA. They're good, hard-working citizens, but things have gone against them and they simply couldn't make a living in farming without FSA loans.

These loans are made for such things as farm machinery, livestock, general farm improvement, and for seed, feed, and fertilizer.

Providing More Land

Another type of FSA loan is being made to refinance farms on a sounder basis. The way this thing works is that a grant is made for certain capital goods and farm improvements that added to what the farmer already has will make the farm pay out. Sometimes all that's needed is to clear a few additional acres of land or add much-needed machinery or livestock.

This will keep many families from losing their farms. Thus they will stay in the area and make a decent living for themselves and their families.

Up until January 1, 1940, the FSA had made loans totaling almost $2,000,000 to needy, low-income farmers in the 46 counties in the northern Michigan cut-over area.

Business Conditions Important

But even where land and climate are right for successful farming, the prosperity of farming really depends on how business conditions are up here. That's true for two reasons: (1) many farmers depend on outside jobs for part of their incomes, and (2) the largest market farmers have is local, right up here in northern Michigan, rather than outside the area.

So when business conditions are bad, farmers lose their part-time jobs and have to depend wholly on their farms for a living. And when other folks don't have jobs at good wages, they can't afford to buy as many potatoes and eggs and as much milk from the farmers.

That's why restoring a stable prosperity to northern Michigan is so important to farmers. That's why farmers have such a big stake in such things as reforestation, developing further our recreational advantages, and bringing in new industry.

Tourists Offer Big Market

Reforestation, for example, can provide a tremendous amount of part-time employment to farmers during seasons when they're not busy on the farm. And right now, recreation is one of the farmers' biggest markets. Last year tourists alone spent $1,600,000 for milk in our state, and they paid $1,760,000 for eggs. In addition, they bought fresh meat, vegetables, and other agricultural products. A good part of this money was spent up here in northern Michigan.

By developing our recreational assets we can greatly increase our share of this income. So that's why an expansion of our recreational program is so vital to our farmers.

Forestry and recreation can help farmers in another way: by being tied right in with farming. A combination of farming and forestry can often provide a better living than straight farming. At present considerable income is derived by farmers in certain sections from the sale of forest products.

Better Forest Management

But if farm-forests were better managed, so that the trees were cut only at the most profitable time, income from forest products could be greatly increased. To get the highest returns from farm-forestry fewer small trees should be cut, a lot of cull material cleaned out, and poorly stocked and denuded areas replanted.

As mentioned in a previous article, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is helping farmers reforest by by making payments to them for planting trees on their own land. Besides checking erosion, these trees can in time be a very profitable supplement to the farmers' income.

Farmers should take greater advantage of this opportunity provided them by the AAA to improve their capital holdings and assure a continuing income for themselves and their children. The state is encouraging farm forestry by distributing tree planting stock to farmers at cost. County agents and extension foresters can advise farmers in methods and advantages of proper woodland management.

Soil Conservation Program

Working through its county committees, the AAA of the Federal Government also has been furthering soil conservation measures by making benefit payments to participating farmers. But still greater benefits have come from rebuilding the soil by reducing soil-depleting crops and land uses and encouraging soil-building crops and methods of cultivation.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration payments to farmers for planting trees and following improved farm-woodland practices are now limited by the amount of crop land and open pasture land on the farm. And since the vast majority of farms in northern Michigan have a relatively small total area in crop land, the AAA should give consideration to recognizing the farm-woodland acreage in computing earnable benefits.

It also might be a good thing for northern Michigan if the AAA were to establish a broader program of forestry benefits, including payments for protection of woodlands against fire and destructive cutting, even though that may require changes in basic AAA legislation.

MRS. CREIGHTON TAKEN BY DEATH

Pioneer Manistique Resident Dies After Long Illness

Mrs. Elizabeth Creighton, 80, pioneer Manistique resident, passed away at her home, 438 Arbutus avenue, Wednesday morning following an extended illness.

The body was prepared for burial at the Morton funeral home. Funeral arrangements will be completed today.

Mrs. Creighton, who was born at Renfrew, Ontario, Canada, March 22, 1860, has been a resident of Schoolcraft county for 59 years. She came here in 1881 and was married to John Creighton in Manistique, March 4, 1883. The family resided on the Creighton farm in Hiawatha township until 18 years ago, when they moved to Manistique.

Mr. Creighton passed away in March, 1934, just one year after he and Mrs. Creighton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Creighton was a member of the Presbyterian church, the Eastern Star, and the Lady Maccabees.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John Tennant, Hiawatha; Miss Martha Creighton, Manistique; two sons, Alex and Scott, of Manistique, and a sister, Mrs. Jessie Austin, of Hileybury, Ontario. Five grandchildren and six great grandchildren also survive.

Automobile Kills Doe

Marquette.—The man who fired his shotgun outdoors on Christmas eve and then told his children Santa Claus had just committed suicide has nothing on the driver who sped along M-94, eleven miles west of Munising, early yesterday morning and killed a doe carrying two unborn fawns, a buck and a doe.

The three lifeless figures were at the left side of the road about 6 a. m. yesterday when the fawns were picked up by a passing motorist and brought to the conservation headquarters office in Marquette.

Conservation officials estimated that the fawns would have been born the latter part of the month. The impact of the blow from the car resulted in their being dropped to the highway by the mother doe.

Both were spotted, quite fully developed, but hair was beginning to show in only a few places. They were about a foot and a half long and had legs about eight inches land. Still moist when found, it was apparent they had been struck not long before being picked up.

Edward "Bud" Jeanson saw the mother doe and two fawns lying by the road while on his way to Munising. He was unable to load the carcass of the doe on theo truck, but picked up the fawns and brought them to the conservation office.

SPEAKER URGES AID TO FORESTS

Women Playing Role In Conservation, Says Miss March-Mount

Much has been written of the charm and personality of Miss Margaret March-Mount as a popular speaker but only those who were privileged to hear her on her tour through Manistique can testify and add to that statement. She spoke to the Rotary club Monday noon, the Women's club Tuesday afternoon and to the Lions club Tuesday evening.

In speaking to members of the Manistique Women's club at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, she completely won her audience not only with her presentation of valuable material but also with her humor and complete nonchalance.

Miss March-Mont, America's number one woman forester and director of women's forestry, Division of Information and Education, of the United States Forest Service, has been given the title, "Ambassadress of Trees." She has concerned herself with the interpretation of scientific forestry into language of the people and to this purpose has been a frequent contributor to leading conservation magazines and prominent newspapers.

"The future of your children rests with forestry. We have too many dependent people now. The right use of the forests will make them independent. It is a social necessity to live conservation. All women are united in conservation," Miss March-Mount told her listeners.

She reminded them that the local nursery is one of the largest in the world and this fact should be more publicised. In relating statistics the speaker praised Europes forests while we in turn have depreservation and care of their stroyed 80% of our forests in 150 years.

In conclusion, Miss March-Mount, urged her audience to keep up the leadership that women are taking in regard to conservation.

The speaker who was neatly attired in a forest green tailored suit of her own design, similar to one worn by the Duchess of Windsor, was introduced by the local Forest Ranger, Clarence Chase, who later presented each club member with a tree, either spruce or pine and gave explicit instructions for transplanting it.

Preceding the speaker the Presbyterian quartette composed of Mrs. G. Morton, Mrs. M. Carlson, Harold Cockram, Sr., and Herbert K. Peterson, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Mitchell, sang P. A. Schnechers, "Te Deum Landamus".

During the executive session which followed the program the revision to the constitution of the amendments and by-laws was accepted by a majority vote.

Tea was served from an attractively decorated table the centerpiece of which was a bouquet of fresh cut flowers of pastel shades. Hostesses were: Mrs. Omer Olsen, chairman, Mrs. L. J. Ashbaugh, Mrs. L. L. Musser, Mrs. Carl Olson, Mrs. Fred Orr, Mrs. Raymond Billings and Mrs. W. Frank.

The next meeting will be the annual luncheon and will be held at the Elk's Temple, May 21, at 1:00 o'clock. The president, Mrs. A. B. Waters, has urged 100% attendance at the final meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Belanger, of L'Anse, spent the weekend here with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Belanger, Oak street.

Jerry Lewis Wins Townsend Club's Amateur Contest

An audience of approximately 400 citizens of this community were pleasantly entertained on Tuesday evening, at the Manistique High School Auditorium, by local budding talent in instrumental and singing numbers, mixed with specialty numbers of tap dancing and acrobatics, etc., at the amateur show sponsored by the local Townsend Club. Al Anderson as announcer and master of ceremonies introduced the young performers.

The audience signified their reception of the program numbers by special balloting at the close of the performance. The ballotts sorted and counted after the show shows the following as winners: first prize—Jerry Lewis; second prize — Lorraine Savage; third prize—Myril Dorman. Close fourth and fifth runners up and honorably mentioned were Robert Anderson and Pat Miller. All numbers were excellently rendered and enthusiastically applauded.

RAFT PREPARED FOR BIG SPRING

New Floats Assembled; Park Will Be Open On May 25

The raft at Kitchi-tiki-pi (Big Spring) is being reassembled and will be in the water at the Palms-Book State Park within the next few days, S. O. Searl, park superintendent for state parks in the upper peninsula, announced yesterday.

Mr. Searl, of Cedar River, arrived in Manistique yesterday to assist E. T. King, Indian Lake State Park caretaker, supervise the job of reassembling the raft. Labor from the CCC camps also is being used to reassemble and refloat the raft, a job which is expected to require several days.

The raft was removed from the water last fall because some of the oil barrels used as floats began to leak. All new barrels, 34 of them, will be installed this year and the entire raft repainted in anticipation of a record tourist year.

Harold Dearing, of Pontiac, who was appointed caretaker at Palms-Book State Park last year, has been reassigned to the Big Spring for the 1940 season. It is expected that he will report here this year about May 25, approxmately two weeks earlier than last year.

E. T. King, who is superintendent at Indian Lake State Park, reported yesterday that the Indian Lake park will be opened to the public about May 15.

Mrs. Lawrence Gorsche, local telegraph operator has been granted a month's leave of absence. Charles Lawrence, of Waupaca, Wis. will take her place during her leave.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, May 8 (AP)—Selected stocks under leadership of steels and aviations, bounced up 1 to 2 points in today's market, but even favorites backed away substantially at the close and numerous minus signs were in evidence.

Issues with a war flavor seemed to have the best of it throughout. Despite the acrimonious debate in the house of commons over the British reverse in Norway, traders generally felt that no matter what happened to the Chamberlain cabinet, the allies would push the war with renewed vigor and lift their purchases in the United States.

Business news remained a sustaining influence, with earnings prospects and cheering dividends bringing support for individual stocks. At that, the lack of follow-through on the forenoon upswing, when prices were around the tops, served as a discouraging omen for speculative forces.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was unchanged at 49.8. Transfers, due to a few fast morning flurries, expanded to 694,300 shares from 583,840 the day before.

Bethlehem Steel made a new peak for the year, but finished ahead only 3-8 at 86 3-8. U. S. Steel was up 1-8. Helping the steel group were forecasts growing consumer demand would keep mill operations at 65 percent of capacity at least for the remainder of this month.

Propping sentiment were the General Motors figures disclosing the best April sales to consumers for any month since April, 1937; a 100 percent stock dividend by Newmont Mining; a successful bid for two light naval cruisers by N. Y. Shipbuilding; indications April air passenger traffic hit a record peak, and predictions aircraft makers would be the busiest in their history for some time to come.

On the other hand there were fears of invasion of the Netherlands, with consequent repercussions in the Dutch East Indies. Strength of rubber futures reflected apprehension in the latter case. Not so pleasing also was another nose-dive of sterling to a new low in about eight years and further weakness of British bonds. The French franc slumped while the English pound recovered somewhat in the afternoon.

Commodities pressed forward, especially grains. Wheat at Chicago was up ½ to 1 3-8 cents a bushel and corn jumped 1 5-8 to 1 7-8. Corn was spurred by reports the department of agriculture was considering an export subsidy for this cereal. Cotton was up 30 cents a bale to down 10 cents.

Moving up as much as a point or more in the curb were Aluminum of America, E. W. Bliss, Gulf Oil and Lake Shore. Losers of small amounts were American Cyanamid "B," American Gas, Creole Petroleum and Fairchild Engineering & Aircraft. Volume here was around 180,000 shares against 150,000 yesterday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, May 8 (AP)—Tension in Europe threw the grain trade into confusion again today, producing rapid and at times violent price fluctuations.

The final bell caught wheat more than a cent higher, corn almost two cents up at the best level since 1937, and other grains mostly fractionally higher. Outstanding independent strength of corn throughout the session imparted firmness to the rest of the market. Corn buying was attributed to reports of negotiations for export business to the United Kingdom and after the close it was disclosed that government officials are considering the possibility of subsidizing exports.

At one time wheat was about a cent net lower, with July contracts the lowest since April 8. However, prices rallied as much as 2 3-8 cents from these lows and closed ½ to 1 3-8 higher than yesterday, with May $1.06 to $1.06 1-8, July $1.05 to $1.04 7-8. May contracts showed least rallying power, being depressed by delivery month liquidation.

Corn closed 1 5-8 to 1 7-8 higher, May 66 5-8, July 67¼ to 67 3-8; oats 5-8 up; rye 3-4 to 1 higher and lard 2 to 7 higher.

Various rumors concerning the British government crisis and fears of war spreading into Holland and Belgium caused much uneasiness in the trade and prompted some of the late short covering in wheat. This more than offset early selling due partly to reports of further good rains in the grain belt with prospects of more moisture in some areas. Reports from milling interests that flour business continued sluggish also caused some bearishness.

Government officials disclosed several exporters have been negotiating for sale of 25,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels of corn to the United Kingdom, Holland and some other European countries but that, with American corn about 25 cents a bushel above Argentine in the Antwerp market, a subsidy would be necessary.

Light country offerings of corn, with only 20,000 bushels booked to arrive, helped to strengthen the market. No. 1 and 2 yellow sold as high as 69½ in the spot market, almost 3 cents oover May contracts, while No. 2 white was priced up to 76½.

Oats and rye fluctuated with the leading grains.

Lard reflected strength of grains and hogs.

New York Playgrounds Are Trebled By Moses

BY TOM WOLF
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

New York—Any bird who migrated south for the winter of 1933-34, and, because of economic conditions, had not started north again until this spring, would probably fly right past New York without recognizing it.

From a bird's-eye view the city must now present an unbelievably changed and pleasing mosaic of parks and playgrounds—trebled in size and number during the very years that planners in other major American cities were struggling with acute attacks of depression budgetitis.

New York's recreation spots present a literal mosaic for, as nearly as any huge planning project can be, they are the work of one man — Robert Moses. Mr. Moses' only paying job, of the seven important governmental posts he holds, is commissioner of New York City's Department of Parks.

When young Bob Moses, son of a New Haven department store impresario, graduated from Yale in 1909, a "Y" for swimming across his broad chest and a Phi Beta Kappa key on his watch chain, he had little thought of entering government service. He was, however, interested enough to sail for Oxford to study British civil law; and in this field he took his Ph. D. at Columbia in 1914.

It is typical of his unorthodoxy and his ability that Moses, a loyal Republican party man, got his start in public life when Al Smith, an equally loyal Democratic party man, became governor in 1918. He has held governmental posts ever since, becoming commissioner of city parks in 1934.

A mere recital of the doings of the autocratic young man with a quick temper, a biting tongue, and above all a Passion for Getting Things Done is itself impressive. But it doesn't tell the story of Moses' six-year dictatorship. His many fights—with politicos, with grafters, with nice old ladies sentimentally attached to the status quo — have been juicy page one reading. But they have been symbolic of the obstacles thrown in his path from every angle. Often he has had to compromise small things to Get Big Things Done.

He has added 6000 acres (one-third increase) to the city's parks; tripled the number of playgrounds; increased parkways 30-fold; and the old swimming star has increased 30 times the bathing facilities. More than 1800 acres have been reclaimed from swamps or dumps for New Yorkers' recreation, including 1200 acres in Flushing Meadows which Moses will turn into a huge playground as soon as the New York World's Fair gets through with them this fall.

Capstone of the New York recreation Mosaic is the new Belt Parkway, to open this summer. Thirty-three miles of parkways around Brooklyn and Queens boroughs, linked to similar circumferential parkways he has already wound around Manhattan and the Bronx, it will give city-tied New Yorkers easy acess to huge new recreation areas.

One day not long ago 6 feet, 185 pounds of balding, 51-year-old Robert Moses, high priest of the Cult of Getting Things Done, wrote an epistle to a city department complaining of the placing of garbage cans too near his dearly beloved parks. The reply he received tells its own story and that of Bob Moses himself.

We're sorry about the condition, the letter began: "But just when our men think they've complied with orders to keep those cans away from parks, up pops another park next to a can."

New York, May 8 (AP)—Bonds identified with Great Britain's cause in the war suffered a further slump today.

Supporting bids were decidedly thin in this group and prospective buyers appeared unwilling to enter orders so long as the British political situation and war aims were stirring controversy throughthe empire.

Domestic corporate bonds and U. S. governments showed small gains o nbalance in a slightly more active trade.

Weakest of the "British" group included Brisbane 5s, down 5¼, Australia 4½s of '56, down 3, and New South Wales 5s of '58, down 3. Losses ran from 1 to around 2 in Canada 3s of '67, Queensland 6s and Sydney 5½s. Bonds of Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways also weakened.

The Associated Press average of low yield issues rose fractionally to 113.2, a new 1940 high.

Transactions totalled $5,670,300, face value, against $4,091,250 yesterday.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SHERRY BOND — society girl owner of race horse, Pepper Boy.

PAUL WHARTON — a rival owner, determined to teach Sherry that racing is not a woman's game.

SHEP GRANT—young gentleman rider.

WILLIE BOND — Sherry's uncle, a turf "adviser."

* * *

Yesterday: Sherry lectures Shep on riding for a rich woman, taking money from her. She leaves Grant, angry and determined to quit his job. Driving across New York, Sherry is afraid they may have an accident, hurt Pepper Boy, but a friendly motorcycle policeman escorts them to the Holland Tunnel.

CHAPTER XII

Two days later, when the Lone Tree Stable with its one horse rolled through the arched gateway of Churchill Downs, a crowd of reporters and photographers was on hand to greet Sherry.

"Safe trip, Miss Bond? The colt okay?" They crowded around her car, asking questions after question. "We've been waiting for you. You're the only girl to have an entry in the Derby this year. Who will ride—?"

"Please!" Sherry begged as they directed her to the stable assigned to her. "Pepper Boy must be unloaded. Let's get him into his stall, first."

The trailer was backed up to a platform, the colt carefully led out, then down an incline to the ground.

"Now, Miss Bond—stand beside him, please!"

They snapped her in a half-dozen poses, with and without Pepper Boy. Uncle Willie and Ted—even Sam—were not forgotten.

Next day Sherry saw herself and Pepper Boy staring out from the front pages, as she ate breakfast in the furnished cottage she had rented for the Derby season.

When she went to the stable, Sam was rubbing down the colt. "He be in fine shape, Miss Sherry," he said. "An' Miss Sherry, see that little black boy"—he nodded to a youngster standing near—"that be Elijah Jones. I knowed his pappy. I done got him for our exercise boy, and he's gonna take Pepper Boy out on the track now—get the kinks out of his legs."

Sherry beckoned to the boy. "Elijah, think you can hold this colt. He's rarin' to go."

"Yes, ma'am, I sho' can."

"Then take him out—walk him half a mile—jog a mile—and after that, a light breeze—two furlongs."

Elijah Jones found himself sitting on dynamite. The colt fought for his head the minute he set foot on the track. But the boy clung like a burr, anticipating Pepper Boy's every move. Once Pepper Boy broke and it took all the lad's strength to pull the colt back into a jog.

For a mile, Elijah held him. Then they went into a light jog, under tight rein. Two furlongs went like a breeze.

Elijah came back, grinning all over. "You got a Derby colt here, Miss Sherry," he exulted.

* * *

Sam was cooling Pepper Boy out when Willie Bond and Ted drove up. They had been over to the secretary's office, getting entry sheets, and had seen Pepper Boy's workout. "My word!" Willie Bond exclaimed admiringly, "The colt's in fine fettle. Now, Sherry," he turned to the girl, opened a condition book: "Here's the very race for Pepper Boy—conditions perfect for him—be a grand workout for the Derby—and we'll pick up $700 or $800. Read it—the race is day after tomorrow."

Sherry read the conditions:

"Purse, $800. For three-year-olds which have started not more than twice since January, and which have not won. 120 pounds. One mile and 70 yards."

Then she looked up at Willie Bond: "Think he can do a mile so soon?"

"He better—the Derby at a mile and a quarter will be only eight days off. It's an ideal workout for the big race. Colt's getting on edge."

She nodded. "Then enter him tomorrow. And you'd better look up a jockey—"

"Look behind you!" Willie Bond interrupted! "Here's Madden!"

"Thought I better come down," the jockey said as Sherry turned, "and handle the colt in a prep race." He spoke as if it were a settled fact he was to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby.

"The very boy!" Willie Bond said quickly. "We're starting him Friday, Madden. You handle him smartly, bring him in first, and—well, the Derby will be run Saturday week."

"I getcha! Got to go and check in—see you later. And I'll work him out tomorrow—just to see if he's got his speed."

"There's the boy to ride him in the Derby," Willie Bond was exulting, when another figure came around the near end of the stable: a lanky figure in scuffed riding boots, faded breeches, a torn sweater, and an out-of-shape felt hat which sat back jauntily upon his fair head.

"Shep Grant!" Sherry greeted him joyously. "So you did get here all right!"

The gentleman rider grinned broadly. "I'm on my own—chucked the Bonnie Lad Stable," he added quickly. "I'm going to buy a colt—a good one. I want to train and ride my own horses. Then I'll buy a breeding farm—but look here, Sherry—you going to start Pepper Boy in that Derby prep race Friday?'

Her face sobered. "Yes, Shep."

"I want to ride him."

"Sorry," Willie Bond put in quickly, before Sherry could speak. "So sorry—we've just engaged Madden.'

"Oh, I see." Grant looked from Willie Bond to Sherry. He spoke hesitantly. "The Derby's run next week, Sherry—I'm the man to ride Pepper Boy then."

"Why, Shep, I—er—'

"Madden engaged?" Grant asked quickly, his manner changing.

"Well, er—" Sherry didn't want to lie; she didn't want even to answer him.

"If he puts up a good ride Friday, we're considering him," Willie Bond said.

Grant stepped forward. "Sherry, I want to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby."

"That's lovely of you, Shep. But you—you're a steeplechase rider—the greatest in America, and Pepper Boy runs on the flat."

"And I'm not so hot on the flat?" he flared. "Well, I'll show you." He started off.

"Shep, please!" she called, as Uncle Willie Bond retreated to a safe distance. Grant stopped. She said: "I didn't like that threat, Shep. What did you mean?"

"No threat, Sherry. I merely offered my services, and you didn't want them. But you will see me riding on the flat—and you'll see I'm good. That's all."

* * *

Sherry discovered that she was to see him riding on the flat—almost instantly, for when the entries for the prep race were posted Thursday, she read this first line:

| No. | Horse | Jockey |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Monitor | Mr. Grant |

The names of eight other entries followed, and then the tenth line:

| No. | Horse | Jockey |
|---|---|---|
| 10 | Pepper Boy | Madden |

Shep Grant was riding against her Pepper Boy! His mount had drawn the best position—number one, against the rail. She had drawn the worst, the extreme outside. And this Monitor, she quickly learned, had been bought the day before by Shep Grant. The colt was a three-year-old shipped in from the West Coast—and it was nominated for the Derby.

"Find out how good this Monitor is," she told Willie Bond. And he reported back, with many a head-shake:

"A magnificent colt, Sherry. He won three out of five starts on the coast last year, and in good company. He started once this year—at Santa Anita. Was just beaten a head. Looks like a mighty good horse."

"The one we've got to beat in that race, then."

Willie Bond shook his head again, sadly.

"This bay, Monitor—he's a threat. Then there's a little brown fellow, Castanets— also nominated for the Derby. There are two good horses, and seven average horses, to beat tomorrow."

"I see," said Sherry, savagely. "And there'd be only one good horse to beat, but for Shep Grant. The idea! Entering a colt against me—riding against me! He's as bad as Paul Wharton."

"Whoa, there!" Uncle Willie cautioned. "Let's be fair to the chap, Sherry. Grant offered to ride for us—we turned him down.'

"Why was he offering to ride Pepper Boy when he had this Monitor, eligible for that race?"

"Sherry, he didn't own Monitor when he offered to ride Pepper Boy. He bought Monitor afterwards—late yesterday afternoon, I learned. Paid $500 down, balance out of winnings."

"It's not on the level. One minute he wants to ride my colt. When—when I've engaged another boy, he gets mad and buys a colt just to beat me." The gorgeous blue eyes were flashing unreasonably.

"We have one thing in our favor tomorrow," Willie Bond offered, hopefully, "and on Derby day, too."

Shery saw a gleam come into his eyes, saw him throw shoulders back. Uncle Willie Bond began to talk:

"Pepper Boy is one of the smallest horses on the track—can scoot through a keyhole. Yes, sir! And he's been trained to go a route. In his only start he was left at the post, but he finished a bang-up second — was running over horses at the wire. He's just reaching top form—ready to run a hard, fast mile against strong company. He'll be ridden by a boy who'll give him a masterpiece of a ride. He'll win—sure. Yes, sir!"

SPRING WINDOWS

One way to give your rooms a springlike feeling is to replace plain-colored window shades with gay printed ones. These are very easy to do yourself if you have some old shade rollers and sticks and a few yards of bright material. Simply tack the chintz on the roller, hem the bottom end and run the shade stick through the hem. Over these, you'll want very sheer, crisp white curtains.

Benefits In Year Cited For Food Stamp Plan

EDITOR'S NOTE: The stamp plan of distributing surplus food commodities was instituted experimentally at Rochester, N. Y., May 16, 1939, and now operates on a national scale. What has been accomplished during the first year's experiment at Rochester, the difficulties encountered and how they were solved, are described herewith.

BY FRED LESTER
Rochester Representative, Food Stamp Office, U. S. Department of Agriculture
(Written for the United Press)

Rochester, N. Y., (U.P.)—The Food Stamp Plan enters upon the second year of its operations in Rochester Thursday, May 16. What was classed as an experiment by the Secretary of Agriculture upon its inauguration here 12 months ago, today is in operation in more than 50 cities with the probability that the plan will be in effect in 100 communities by the end of the present fiscal year, June 30.

Confronted with a surplus of food commodities that were proving burdensome to the farmer, the Secretary of Agriculture initiated the Food Stamp Plan which allows persons who receive public assistance to buy $1 in orange stamps each week for each member of the family. These orange stamps can be used for the purchase of any food product through regular retail food stores that is to be eaten at home, with the exception that the purchase of wines, liquor and tobaccos is prohibited.

With every $1 in orange stamps purchased the relief eligible is given 50 cents in blue stamps which can be used only for the purchase of surplus commodities. These surplus commodities are designated from time to time by the Secretary of Agriculture and are purchased by the food merchants through the same channels as are other commodities. Merchants redeem the food stamps, both orange and blue, through the local office which maintains both audit and disbursing units for prompt payment of these claims.

Fifth List Issued

The fifth Surplus Commodity List now in effect consists of butter, eggs, pork, pork lard, oranges, grapefruits, all flour, corn meal, rice, raisins, hominy, grits, fresh apples, fresh pears, dried beans and dried prunes.

Definitely the plan has become a nation-wide success. In Rochester this is attested in that purchases on May 16, 1939, in the sum of $12,368 were made by only 1,585 persons, whereas on April 16, 1940, approximately 5,000 persons purchased $53,488 in orange stamps.

Skepticism, or at least a showme-attitude, on the part of relief clients has given way to unqualified approval by these people today.

Merchants Are Enthusiastic

Likewise, the food merchants now benefiting by additional business through the use of the blue stamps in amount of $100,000 a month in this city alone are enthusiastic supporters of the Food Stamp Plan. Public relief agencies endorse the plan which allows relief clients to expend approximately 7½ cents per meal as against 5 cents per meal formerly. Taxpayers and other interested parties benefit by the increased business in the community.

There have been minor difficulties but on the whole the plan has met with general approval. Bankers thought last fall that they were obliged to do too much work for the food retailers gratis, as about 87 per cent of the food stamp cards were brought into the banks for redemption through the local audit office and they sought to put into effect a service charge of 1 per cent for handling these food stamp cards.

But this was ironed out and today all is harmonious. The food merchants' committee, Chamber of Commerce, wholesalers and other interested parties got busy with the result that today only about 7 per cent of the food stamp cards are passing through the banks, the rest going directly to this office either from the retailers themselves or wholesalers acting as agents.

Health Seen Improved

Among the benefits of the Food Stamp Plan are: Aid to agriculture and thereby to the whole country; healthier and better citizens through more balanced diet among relief clients by this increased food allowance; increased prosperity among food merchants as surplus commodities are handled through regular business channels instead of being handed out at government depots. This means a more prosperous community, as more than $1,000,000 in extra business has been given to Rochester merchants through use of the blue food stamps during the first year of the plan's operations. The total business transacted during the year in both blue and orange stamps amounts to approximately $3,150,000.

T. MULROONEY CLUB SPEAKER

Describes Chamber of Commerce Drive at Manistique

How the city of Manistique recently carried out a drive for a Chamber of Commerce with a paid secretary was described by Tom F. Mulrooney, of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co., president of the newly formed chamber. Mulrooney served as general chairman of the campaign.

The speaker said that Manistique at one time had a Chamber of Commerce but membership fees were low, the secretary was on only a part time basis, handling the work in addition to regular labor and eventually interest dropped and the chamber was disbanded.

Feeling the need for a community - building organization such as a Chamber of Commerce a group got together and invited the secretary and president of the Soo Chamber to address a joint meeting of several clubs and invited guests. Further group meetings were held, the amount of money needed and the cost of memberships fixed and with the decision to go ahead an outside organizer was engaged.

A slogan, "Keep Manistique Ahead" was adopted, considerable publicity given to show the benefits which could be expected and then came the drive for memberships which went over the set quota in less than two days, Mulrooney said.

Working in conjunction with the national organization, the directorial board of the chamber is now engaged in selecting a secretary and no effort is being spared to make sure they get the right man. In the meantime the directors meet once each week and plan to continue this practice.

Fred Hahne, Manistique, a bank official who was also active in the successful CC drive, spoke briefly giving a number of details of the manner in which the campaign was conducted.

Leo DeRoeck, commodore of the Gladstone Yacht club, reported on activities of the club and described the growth of boating activities since the organization of the club and Vern White touched on the U. S. Coastguard reserve recently formed and some of its activities which include getting permission to use the Squaw Point lighthouse property as a picnic ground and a course in navigation which is being conducted by a coastguard officer from Two Rivers, Wis.

Arthur Mineau of the Hiawatha Guide association gave a financial report on the association, described some of the activities and invited those present to make a river trip by boat under the guidance of members of the association.

City Manager Raddant reported he had word that construction of the state police post here would begin about June 4.

Strand Exonerated In Death Inquest

Roy Strand, driver of a truck which struck and fatally injured little Darlene Pepin near her home on North Seventh street Monday, was exonerated in a coroner's investigation yesterday of any criminal negligence and a jury recommended no prosecution.

Mr. Strand told the jury that he was traveling only five to 10 miles an hour. He said he saw the child sitting on the curbing in front of her house, saw her cross the street in front of his car and then turn suddenly near the opposite curb and run in front of the vehicle.

Isaac Jackson, Mrs. John Strand, Mrs. Albert Buckman, Robert Lucier and Mrs. Fluette all testified that the truck had been traveling slowly. Coroner O. S. Hult, who treated the child immediately after the accident, told of her injuries.

County Prosecutor William J. Miller questioned the witnesses.

The jury included George Minne, James Cannon, Arthur Mineau, Robert Gamble, William Noreus and Joseph Vargo.

ANY WAY you look at it—it will pay you to own a new Nash. It alone has the 99 H.P. Manifold-Sealed engine that took a "first" in the 1940 Gilmore-Yosemite Run with 23.76 miles per gallon. It alone has that smooth new Arrow-Flight Ride, Sand-Mortex Soundproofing. No other sedan near its price has provision for a big Convertible Bed . . . or has a 7-bearing crankshaft, the extra weight, the double frame, that mean so much in comfort.

To get all this in another car, you'd have to pay about $300 more. But it's "standard" with Nash—and extra value when you trade. Take a look—take a ride in a 1940 Nash today!

Red Sox Stop Detroit, 5 to 4; Cubs Rained Out

RELIEF PITCHER HALTS BENGALS

Boston Retains League Lead; Wilson Fans Big Greenberg

Boston, May 8, (AP)—The stout-hearted relief pitching of Jack Wilson enabled the Red Sox to protect their American league lead today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 5-4.

Wilson choked off a threatening rally when he stepped into action in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and in the ninth, with the tying and winning runs on the sacks, he ended the game by fanning mighty Hank Greenberg.

Greenberg opened the Tigers' scoring in the fourth by blasting his third homer of the season against starter Jim Bagby with one out and none on.

Bases Packed

Bagby gave the fast-traveling visitors two more tallies in the seventh, when Mike Higgins, singled, Birdie Tebbetts doubled and pinch-hitter Pete Fox hit safely.

Before retiring, Bagby packed the bases by giving Bruce Campbell a single and passing Chuck Gehringer.

Wilson put down that uprising by forcing Earl Averill to ground out. In the ninth, after the Tigers registered their final run on two singles and an error, the relief pitcher pulled himself out of his self-made hole by fireballing Greenberg.

Both teams collected 12 hits and the Red Sockers bunched five of theirs, including Lou Finney's triple, in the fourth against starter Henry Pippen for four runs.

York Pulls Boner

Thereupon John Gorsica took over the Detroit mound and the Sockers nicked him for their winning run in the sixth, when Bagby doubled, Finney sacrificed and Doc Cramer brought the pitcher home with a single.

A mental lapse by first baseman Rudy York aided the Red Sox in staying on top of the American league race and pushing the Tigers into third place behind the Cleveland Indians.

In the fourth the Red Sox scored four runs when they should have been held scoreless. With one out, Bobby Doerr and Jim Tabor singled. Gene Desautels grounded to Gehringer and York, who also attempted to field the ball, left first base unoccupied.

Unable to make a throw, Gehringer held the ball, giving Desautels a base hit and filling the bases. Bagby flied to Earl Averill for what should have been the third out, scoring Doerr, and Finney tripled, driving in two more runs. Before Williams struck out to end the inning Finney had tallied on Cramer's single.

Except for that bit of misjudgment Detroit would have been in a first-place tie with Boston.

McCosky Hurts Foot

Archie McKain, pitched the last two innings for the Tigers, yielded only one hit, a scratch infield single by Finney.

X-rays disclosed today that a foot injury incurred yesterday in New York by Barney McCosky, the Tigers' sensational sophomore outfielder, was not serious. McCosky was struck by a foul tip from his own bat in the final contest with the Yankees and will be out of the lineup for several days.

Either Freddie Hutchinson or Paul (Dizzy) Trout will hurl for Detroit tomorrow, opposing Denny Galehouse.

CAT 19, STILL FIGHTS DOGS

Thomasville, Ala. (UP)—Kitty Tom has reached the venerable age of 19 years. The aged cat, owned by Mayor V. C. Wilkinson, still has enough youthfulness left, though, to continue an unceasing war against dogs.

CITY HONORS GEHRINGER

Detroit, May 8 (AP)—Mayor Edward J. Jeffries today proclaimed Saturday as Charley Gehringer day.

He urged fans of the city to turn out that day at Briggs stadium to honor Gehringer, one of the game's greatest second baseman, on the latter's thirty-seventh birthday.

Appropriate ceremonies will mark the occasion, the mayor said, disclosing invitations had been sent to Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis, Will Harridge, American league president, and owners of the other seven clubs in the circuit.

REDS ROUTED, 10-4, BY BEES

Derringer Takes Kayo In Fifth As Five Runs Come In

Cincinnati, May 8 (AP)—Getting to Paul Derringer for four runs in the opening stanza, Boston shelled him from the mound in a five-run fifth inning and went on today to a 10-to-4 rout of the Reds.

The game deprived last year's champs of a first place tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers and ended at five their streak of victories.

Derringer, seeking his third triumph, found instead his second defeat as Boston launched early into a 13-hit parade. Five of the blows, including Eddie Miller's second homer in as many days, were for extra bases.

Boston .. 400 150 000—10 13 1
Cincinnati— 300 001 000— 4 10 0

Posedel and Lopez; Derringer, Moore, Hutchings and Lombardi.

CHISOX CLIMB OUT OF CELLAR

Victory Over Senators 6-3 Leaves Yanks In Last Place Alone

Washington, May 8. (AP)—The Chicago White Sox climbed out of the American league cellar today by beating the Washington Senators 6-3 and left the world champion Yankees in sole possession of last place.

Gerald Walker, for whom the Senators traded Taft Wright to Chicago last winter, and Wright himself opposed their old teams for the first time this season and Wright got the applause. Taft got a single and a triple and robbed Zeke Bonura of a hit with the game's best catch in the fourth inning, while Walker failed to get a hit.

Score by innings:

Chicago ... 011 201 100—6 10 0
Washington 010 000 200—3 5 3

Smith, C. Brown and Turner; Chase, Carrasquel, Jacobs and Evans.

Poor Pirates Lose Eighth In A Row

Pittsburgh, May 8 (AP)—The pathetic Pirates dropped their eighth consecutive game today as the New York Gaints ended a four-game losing streak of their own with a 10 to 6 triumph.

The Giants worked out on five Pittsburgh pitchers for 17 hits and tallied eight of their runs before the Pirates broke the ice against Lefty Cliff Melton, who got credit for his third victory against no defeats although he was knocked out in the eighth.

N. York.. 203 102 020—10 17 2
Pittsburg 000 000 140— 6 12 0

Melton, Joiner, Schumacher and Danning; Klinger, Heintzelman, Bauers, Swigart, Harrell and Davis.

PIRATES TRADE RIZZO

Pittsburgh, May 8. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates today traded outfielder Johnny Rizzo to the Cincinnati Reds for outfielder Vince DiMaggio, one of the three ball playing DiMaggio brothers. It was a straight player transaction with no cash involved.

6 Schools To Compete In Manistique Meet

Manistique — Six schools will compete in the second annual Manistique invitational track and field meet here Saturday, William Cook, meet director, announced yesterday. About 100 athletes are entered in the various events.

Schools which have submitted entries are Escanaba, Newberry, Soo, Munising, St. Joseph and Manistique. Last year Escanaba, Soo and Manistique competed in the event, with the Eskymos winning handily.

The meet will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock, eastern standard time.

Among the outstanding track stars entered is Shampine, fleety Munising dash man. Shampine is rated as the boy to beat in the century and 220 yard dashes.

The schedule of events follows:

1:30—120 yd. High Hurdles—Trials
1:30—Polevault, Shotput, High Jump and Broad Jump
1:40—100 yd. Dash—Trials
1:55—200 yd. Low Hurdles — Trials
2:10—220 yd. Dash—Trials
2:25—120 yd. High Hurdles—Finals

MARQUETTE university has provided the Upper Peninsula Relay Carnival with some fine attractions in the past . . . few fans will forget the sprinting of big Ralph Metcalfe, high jumping of Ed Burke, vaulting of Dick Schram and Carroll Roark and the javelin tossing of Gene Ronzani . . . this year, the Hilltop school track team, directed by the congenial Con Jennings, sends three top notchers in pole vaulter Earl Stolberg and hurdlers Bob Shurilla and Art Schwope . . . in the past, hurdlers and vaulters have provided the biggest thrills and the combination this year should prove extremely attractive to track fans . . . Stolberg, of course, will be popular in the peninsula because he is a product of Iron Mountain high school and still holds the Relays record in the pole vault event . . . we hope Jennings accompanies the boys here because there'll be a few high school athletes here that he might like to meet.

The only thing that comes to him who waits is whiskers.

INCREASE IN TRACK interest this year is very noticeable . . . there will be three track meets this week end in the Escanaba district that will draw hundreds of athletes . . . over at Manistique, there will be an invitational meet, forerunner of next week's district meet there, that will draw most of the class B and class C teams from the district . . . most of the class D teams of Delta and Alger counties will compete in the annual meet at Rock . . . and the Menominee county association also is sponsoring a meet Saturday . . . all in all, Saturday promises to be a busy day . . . the district meet, as we have said, will be May 18 and the regional at Houghton May 25 . . . the season winds up with the Relays here on Memorial Day.

CHOLLY GEHRINGER is playing with the best of them this year in spite of his 37 years, says a feature story out of New York . . . the kingpin of the Tigers has been a remarkable character, one of whom baseball may be proud . . . he has always been a hard worker, a faithful trainer and a good moral influence on his mates . . . he lives quietly with his 67 year old mother in Detroit and has been careful about his money . . . when he hangs up his spikes, he won't have to worry about his future . . . and he says he'll quit baseball the day he can't perform with the rest . . . he doesn't want to be a manager and won't play minor league ball . . . many athletes may study Gehringer's way of living . . . it could well be used as a model for others to follow.

NAHMA ENTERS MEET AT ROCK

Tobin Has Strong Track Crew; Golf Team Is Starting Work

Nahma, Mich., May 8—Nahma high school's potent track team will make its bow in the 1940 season Saturday afternoon when they travel to Rock to compete in the annual Class D meet there.

Coach Bernard Tobin's boys have been practicing for several weeks and appear to be stronger than they were last year when they captured second place in the meet. They were champions in 1938.

A golf team will represent F. W. Good school in the Upper Peninsula tourney at Crystal Falls May 25. Those working out at the present time are George LeBrasseur, Jack Hruska, Richard Zimmerman, Stanley Lancaster, James Tobin, Dave and Dell O'Brien and Robert McDonald.

Nahma's entries in the track meet at Rock will be as follows:

100 yd. dash—Ray James, Wm. Hruska.

200 yd. dash—Ray James, Wm. Hruska.

880 yd. dash—Fredrick Blowers, Dave O'Brien, William Deloria.

KAMRATH WINS COACH'S FAVOR

Escanaba Youth Makes Good On Chance At First Base

East Lansing, Mich., May 8—The Michigan State college baseball team will concern itself with opposition in the home state next week. On Wednesday the Spartans will be in Ypsilanti to oppose Michigan Normal and Saturday they are due in Kalamazoo to play a return game with Western State Teachers college.

The Spartans have a score to settle with Normal. Two scores, as a matter of fact, for the Hurons hopped on Coach John Kobs teams for two victories last year. They out-lasted State to win the first one, 13-11, and then came here to register a 7-1 triumph. The game at Kalamazoo also provides a chance for the Kobsmen to get some revenge. Western administered a 19 to 6 defeat on State here earlier in the season, the largest score a team has rolled up against a Spartan nine since 1928.

State promises to go through the season with the catching and first base positions undecided. Coach Kobs has been unable to decide which of four catchers is the best and there are two first sackers of almost equal ability. So he is dividing up the work. Leo Wolkowicz, Ed Manion, Harvey Cook and Maurice Bolster all have seen duty behind the bat. Cook and Wolkowicz have done most of the work. The first sackers are George Owen and Bob Kamrath. Owen appeared to have the first base job cinched until the sickness of Norman Duncan forced him to play shortstop. That was the chance Kamrath had been waiting for and his play convinced Coach Kobs he should at least play part of the time even with Owen released for duty at his regular stand.

Four Pitchers Hit Hard As Athletics Beat Browns, 10-8

Philadelphia, May 8, (AP)—Pounding four pitchers for 13 hits, four of them by second baseman Benny McCoy, the Athletics outlasted the St. Louis Browns in a high scoring game today, 10 to 8.

McCoy's fourth hit, a single with the bases filled, in the eighth played a major part in the three-run attack which gave the Athletics their margin of victory.

Buck Ross, making his first start of the year, was the winning pitcher, although he had to be relieved by Ed Heusser when Joe Gallagher homered with two aboard in the seventh inning. Walter Judnich hammered Ross' offerings for two triples and a single.

St. Louis .. 101 000 402— 8 11 1

SOUTHPAW NIPS YANKEES AGAIN

Cleveland Indians Smack Out 10 to 4 Decision At New York

New York, May 8, (AP)—The world champion Yankees wrecked on the shoals of southpaw pitching today for the fifth consecutive game and the ninth time this season as the Cleveland Indians smacked out a 10 to 4 decision.

Al Smith, making his first start of the season, held all the New York sluggers except Joe Dimaggio and Flash Gordon in check for eight innings and then was replaced by Al Milnar, another lefthander, as a precaution when he allowed a single at the start of the ninth.

TRACK MEET AT POWERS SAT'Y

Menominee County High Schools Compete In Annual Affair

The third annual Menominee county track meet will be held Saturday afternoon at Powers. This meet is sponsored by the Menominee county high school athletic association which consists of Hermansville, Powers, Harris, and Stephenson.

Edmund Pierce, principal of the Powers-Spaulding high school is chairman of the meet. Three trophies and more than 40 medals are awarded. Trophies are given to the team winning the meet, also to the winning relay team and to the winning grade relay. Hermansville won the meet the first year and Stephenson copped the trophy last year.

The Stephenson Eagles, last year champions, are expected to repeat again this year, with the other three schools giving them a battle for some of the points. Harris will depend heavily on their dash star, Myrville, and Brukhardt, a vaulter, as well as the two Houles. Powers' mainstay will probably be Perket who should score points in both of the dashes as well as the high and broad jump. Larson, a miler and Fleetwood, a hurdler also should score points for the Twins.

Hermansville will depend on Holle in the 400, Pierpon, Sutherland, and St. Juliana in the hurdles. Doran, Machalk, and Peterson should score some points for the Sawmillers in the distance events. Hermansville's grade relay of Morona, Tolmich, Fochesetto, and Sutherland, should stand a good chance of winning the grade relay trophy as three of these boys have been members of the county grade relay championship team for the past two years.

Lads Have An Idea On Wrestling Reform

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, May 8 (AP)—If you are injured or sick, who supports your family? Are you forced to take orders? Are you paid enough for the chances you are taking?

This inanimate census-taker isn't an ad for a benevolent society. It is merely a handbill distributed to members of the wrestling fraternity and calling attention in its subtle way to a wrestlers' union in process of formation.

The Wrestlers Equity Association, it is called, and right now it consists chiefly of Frank Boyce and Noel Lee, two fellows with an idea.

Boyce, a chunky, bright-eyed fellow who used to do a little free-lance refereeing up in New England, sat behind a roll-top desk in a large, meagerly-furnished office in Brooklyn. Lee alternately dropped nickels into the pay-phone on the wall and added morsels to the general conversation.

"The wrestling business is shot," declared Boyce, who in his bubbling enthusiasm invents words as the occasion demands. "Here we have men working for $4, or $5, or $10 a night, and paying their own expenses. They haven't any money left.

"We want to establish a mine-num, say of $25 for a preliminary, $50 for a semifinal and at least 15 percent for a main event.

"And we want to take the phoniness out of the game."

Here Lee chimed in.

"One-hundred percent of the matches now are faked," he asserted, "and it isn't the wrestlers fault. They must obey orders. If a man wins when he's supposed to lose, he's barred."

"It will be all right to bill two or three matches as exhibitions," Boyce went on, disregarding the interruption. "But the main events must be shooting matches, and advertised as such. When the public knows it will get just what is advertised, they will start to have confidence in the game.

"Look at this," he pointed a stubby forefinger at a gaudy poster on the wall. "Here it's billing the Swedish Angel against some guy in the main event, and then underneath, as a special attraction, it has Bobby Bruns meeting another fellow. And look, it refers to Bruns as the world champion. Isn't that crazy? Just like putting Joe Louis in a semi-windup.

"We intend to eventually have one champion, based on ability. We can do it through the shooting matches. How will we know they are shooting matches? Well, there's be no more of this you win, you lose stuff. If a wrestler accepts such orders from a promoter and we find it out, he'll be suspended, maybe for life.

"You can't blame the wrestlers for the condition of the game now. It's the promoters. The wrestlers are helpless. They must do as they're told. When we get organized the promoters must use our men, or we'll picket 'em.

"I figure there are between 3,000 and 4,000 wrestlers in the country. Most of them eventually come to New York. Well, we'll have this section organized first, and to appear here the men must join the association. They all want to, anyway, but that makes it easier.

"The association will provide medical attention for the members and hold benefits for them if they need it. And the members will run the union. I'm business manager and Lee is secretary-treasurer, but the chairman must be a wrestler.

"We're going to clean up the game," he concluded, "so the aurience will know just what it is getting."

Which is fine, but those shooting matches are going to make it tough for roommates to get along.

WINNING TEAM WARMS HEART

Con Jennings Tickled By Well Balanced Track Aggregation

Milwaukee, Wis., May 8—Take it from Conrad M. Jennings, there's nothing like a first rate track team to warm a coach's heart!

Marquette university's veteran track coach and athletic director, on the job since 1922, has had his share of thrills from outstanding individual stars like Ralph Metcalfe, one-time "world's fastest human;" the Walter brothers of the 1928 Canadian Olympic team; Mel Shimek, a national champion two-miler, and Eddie Burke, world's record-holding high jumper, but he says there's nothing like having a team that wins.

C.M.JENNINGS

COMES TO RELAYS

Con Jennings, Marquette's athletic director, is expected to attend the Relay Carnival here Memorial Day with three of his athletes, Earl Stolberg, Bob Shurilla and Art Schwope. Three athletes mentioned in this story , Metcalfe, Shimek and Burke, have appeared at former Relay Carnivals.

"There's just about as much team effort in track as there is in other sports," Jennings says. "We don't have a single potential national champion on our squad at Marquette, but the boys are working together to bring us the best team in our history. I tell you I'm getting a kick out of it!"

The Hilltop trackmen have run up a record of 11 consecutive dual victories with Wisconsin, Notre Dame, Michigan State, Chicago and Minnesota included among their victims. They won the central collegiate outdoor championship last June, and repeated indoors in February, without landing a single clear-cut first.

Jennings and his Marquette athletes at the moment are looking ahead to duals with Purdue and Notre Dame, and to their defense of the Central collegiate title here, June 7.

A native of Jennings, Kas., the Marquette coach prepped at South Division high school, Milwaukee, and attended the University of Michigan. He became track coach at Marquette in 1922, and was promoted to the position of athletic director in 1926.

Lansing May Be Farm For Cards

Lansing, May 8. (AP)—Jess Altenburg, manager of the Lansing Lancers in the Michigan state baseball league, disclosed today that negotiations were under way to make the capitol city nine a farm for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Apparently abandoning plans to go it alone in the league—the only team in the circuit which had that idea—the Lancers would draw men and cash from the Cardinals under the proposal.

Altenburg said Joe Mathe, Cardinal scout, would come here this week to discuss terms of a contract. He said he had held a "promising" talk with Branch Rickey, general manager of the Cardinals.

PREFERS PADDLING

New York—Tommy Armour, Jr., son of the former American and British Open golf champion, rows No. 4 in Columbia's lightweight crew.

Fate Of Lou Ambers Depends On His Legs

BY SID FEDER

Summit, N. J., May 8. (AP)—It's not a matter of how many punches Lou Ambers is going to have to take in defending his lightweight championship against Texas Lew Jenkins in Madison Square Garden Friday night, but how much bounce there's left in his legs.

Winding up his intensive preparations here among the north Jersey hills today, Herkimer Lou showed he is ready to take the very best belts pitched by Sweetwater Lew, one of the snappiest sockers the little fellows have seen in a long time.

He pointed out that he has been whacked firmly by the very best—clouters like Tony Canzoneri, Sammy Fuller and Henry Armstrong—and has bounced right back to beat them.

Now it's a question of whether an Ambers, approaching 27 and no longer "hungry," with all the money he'll ever need and happily married, still has the "bounce" in his legs to catch Jenkins' high hard one on his chin for 15 rounds and still come up with all his speed.

That he's an easier target to tag than the "cutie" who had Armstrong, Canzoneri, and company swinging at thin air in past fights was proved in his final sparring session. Austin McCann, a lanky New Yorker who would not have been able to hit the Herkimer Hurricane with a handful of buckshot a couple of years ago, connected with plenty of punches in a three round workout.

And in the third, he caught Lou off balance with a left hook and Lou sat right on the seat of his panties.

It wasn't a clean knock-down, because Lou was half slipping before the blow landed, but the punch did hit him on the chin and the next thing you knew, there was your champion getting up off the floor.

The fact that he's having trouble making the weight—he hasn't been called upon to get down to 135 pounds since he won the title from Armstrong last August—isn't going to help his speed and his legs any if and when the tussle turns past the tenth round and down the stretch Friday. He weighed 139 pounds at the start of his workout today and after three rounds of boxing an dseven of gym drills he was 137.

Naturally, Lou, one of the classier lightweights the division has ever seen, figures to whip the Sweetwater swatter, who can knock an ordinary fighter kicking, but who hasn't tangled with an Ambers yet. Still, a slower Ambers who gets tagged easier than in the past, may conceivably be beaten. After all, Jenkins is going into this fight with a record of having put his last three rivals to sleep in a total of five rounds—and two of these, Tippy Larkin and Chino Alvarez, were rocked to dreamland with just about one punch apiece.

Revived Cardinals Beat Phils, 7 to 4

St. Louis, May 8 (AP)—Stuart Martin pounded out two home runs today, giving the St. Louis Cardinals nine round-trippers in two days, as the revived Redbirds defeated Philadelphia, 7 to 4. He hit one of the Cardinals' seven homers against Brooklyn yesterday.

Rookie Clyde Smoll started for the Phillies but the Cardinals batted him out in less than an inning with a 3-run outburst topped by Pepper Martin's double. Stuart Martin trotted around solo on one of his homers and the other came with a man on base.

Spartan Coaches Banking On Escanaba Youth At Tackle Post

East Lansing, Mich., May 8—Coach Charley Bachman would like to have continued another two weeks with his spring football practice at Michigan State college but decided to give his hopefuls more time with their studies. A number of promising players developed this spring are perilously close to scholastic trouble and Bachman did not care to chance further losses.

Rain and cold weather served to keep down attendance during the late stages of the off-season practice but Bachman was generally pleased with the results. Results of the workouts convinced him that Paul Griffeth, of Sturgis, will carry on capably in the position of left guard which will be vacated by Lyle Rockenbach who is graduating. Griffeth has been playing right guard for two years. Bachman also looks for some fine football from Bill Batchelor, center; Edward Abdo, guard; Frank Karas and Fred Carter, tackles. All are regular linemen. The veteran backs were treated to light work this spring as the coaches worked hard on a large crop of freshman ball carriers.

Doings About Capitol

"Dickinson versus Van Wagoner" will be the Michigan gubernatorial issue next November, according to best bets today at the state capital.

Although neither the present governor nor the state highway commissioner have formally tossed their hats into the political ring, observers take it for granted that they will do so at the proper time.

Two recent events are seen as harbingers of Dickinson's nomination for the Republican choice for governor. First, Dr. H. Allen Moyer of Charlotte, personal physician of Governor Dickinson's, announced that the governor was fit as a fiddle to make a campaign and, in fact, was in better health now at 81 than he was a year ago, an octo genarian.

Second, 80-year-old former Governor Chase S. Osborn released a 16-page letter in which he expanded upon his previous criticisms of Mr. Dickinson, releasing such barbed epithets as "Michigan's chief bartender," "inflated egotist," and "conscious hypocrite." Osborn concluded with a tart plea for Dickinson to step aside.

Intimates of the governor are smiling. If anything was needed to induce the governor that he should run again, Osborn's front page statement was regarded as removing any doubt. Of course, Dickinson seldom if ever is a candidate. He merely has been nominated with regularity and has been elected much in the same way.

Threat to Harmony?

In the judgment of one Lansing newspaper correspondent, Osborn's heckling attitude is "somewhat of a threat to the peace and harmony of the Republican party."

Joseph H. Creighton, a veteran observer of the capital scene, interviewed a number of the "top notch Republican leaders" and reported that one of them remarked caustically: "Why must the old man run, after all?" This same person informed Creighton that "one strong candidate could defeat Dickinson in the primaries.

Offsetting these statements was Creighton's personal conclusion that "Dickinson probably couldn't be stopped with a baseball bat and that he'd win the Republican primary just as he won seven others when running for lieutenant governor."

The latter analysis was prompted by a feeling that Dickinson's lieutenants in his official cabinet and party leaders generally could not agree among themselves upon a candidate other than Dickinson.

Thus, the administration aspirants for the governorship having largely neutralized each other's chances for the nomination, Dickinson is forecast as an easy winner in the September primary. At least, that's the prevailing thought at Lansing today—not prompted by favoritism for one candidate or another, being solely but a cool summary of the political situation as it exists at the moment.

Osborn for Murphy

In connection with the former governor's blast against Dickinson, it is recalled that Chase Osborn has been noted for his political independence, having been a Bull Mooser in the 1912 campaign and as late as two years ago having jumped upon the Democratic bandwagon to support Frank Murphy for re-election as governor.

This spring, Osborn remains in the same seat, the only change being that he is against Dickinson instead of the late Governor Fitzgerald and that he favors a Democrat "of the type of Murray D. Van Wagoner" instead of Mr. Murhpy.

But the Osborn attitude of political independence is a disturbing sign, to say the least. Whether it represents the viewpoint of a large number of voters is quite another matter which time will reveal in its inevitable way.

If Fitzgerald's election was due more to an anti-Murphy reaction following the sit-down strike in 1937 than to a positive action in behalf of Fitzgerald—and such a conclusion has been voiced privately by leading Republicans — then what will be the popular trend in Michigan next November if Dickinson is the Republican nominee and Van Wagoner is the Democrats' choice?

The answer will depend to a large degree upon whom the Republicans and Democrats nominate for President. For 1940 is a national campaign year—don't forget!

Dewey Movement

More than a year ago two Michigan-born Republicans, Thomas E. Dewey and Arthur Vandenberg, agreed to stay out of each other's home field—Dewey out of Michigan and Vandenberg out of New York.

Regarding Vandenberg as the state's favorite son for the Presidency, the state Republican organization has been plumping enthusiastically for the Grand Rapids senator, and it is a foregone conclusion that Vandenberg will receive Michigan's support on the first vote at the Philadelphia convention next month.

Howard Lawrence, former state treasurer succeeding Frank D. McKay, launched a Vandenberg boom a year ago. Leslie Butler, personal secretary of the governor, has been active in behalf of the Vandenberg - for - president movement. But when the Michigan senator declined to leave Washington to compete in person with Dewey in western states and the state primary verdicts showed a definite trend towards the New York racket-busting prosecutor, certain Republican leaders began to get nervous.

Melville B. McPherson of Lowell, who was a candidate against former Governor Fitzgerald two years ago, and Senator Herman H. Dignan of Owosso seized upon the opportunity to launch a Dewey movement in Michigan.

Dignan was careful to explain that the Dewey organization is being formed without Mr. Dewey's permission because of the Dewey-Vandenberg agreement.

He said: "His campaign is gathering momentum in Michigan as well as elsewhere and it seems advisable that something be done to organize the sentiment here."

And so it goes. Michigan's political pot is beginning to boil.

Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Hill returned Saturday to their home here after spending the winter in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Misses Helen and Marian Olli visited in Escanaba Friday.

Irving Olli, who has been transferred from the Coast Guard Station at Vermillion to Cleveland, Ohio, left Sunday with his family for Cleveland after having visited with his mother here for a few days.

It is reported that Rev. L. Ahlman of Newberry who preaches in the Finnish Lutheran church here, recently suffered a stroke, and is quite ill.

Miss Isabelle McCall returned Saturday after spending a few months in Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. James Quello spent Saturday afternoon in Newberry.

Mrs. Ora Endress Sr. and son, Ora, returned last week from a few days visit in Detroit.

BURNING ENTERPRISE

Los Angeles (AP)—Billy and Tommy Elwell have some swell ideas for a hot dog stand in front of their home, where the fuel won't cost them anything. Natural gas recently started seeping out of the parking strip there, and the boys' father, W. H. Elwell, capped the flow and rigged up a stove from an old coffee can. Ignited, the gas burned with a steady flame and boiled water.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills today and ask for new money-saving Family Size.
